ASK GUARANTY FUND PAY OFF DEPOSITORS

Suit Begun to Force Payment To Depositors in First Closed Bank.

Will Determine If Depositors Must Be Paid in Order of Bank Closings

Dickinson, N. D., June 7.—Suit to determine whether or not the Guaranty Fund Commission must reimburse depositors of closed banks in the order of the banks' closing, and when, has been instituted in the Sixth district court by A. J. Wirtz, in behalf of himself and other depositors of the closed Security State Bank of New England. Similar suit has been instituted by Peter Lux in behalf of himself and other depositors of the Farmers State Bank of Havelock.

The Guaranty Fund Commission, it is understood, has taken the position that with numerous banks closed the commission is not obliged to pay the depositors of the first closed bank first, but that an equal liability is created.

Wirtz states that when the Security State Bank of New England closed Nov. 17, 1920 he had on deposit $8,000.00, that the total of unsecured deposits is about $200,000.00 and that the Guaranty Fund Commission has about $100,000 in its fund at present.

The Security State Bank of England, since a Tolley bank has reopened, and the Farmers State Bank of Havelock were the first banks to be declared insolvent of the closings which began about three years ago, the petition says. It holds the depositors are entitled to receive their deposits in full out of the commission fund. The court is asked to:

1. Order the Guaranty Fund Commission to pay the receiver of the Security State Bank of New England sufficient money to pay the claims in full.
2. That in event there is not sufficient money to pay all unsecured deposits to issue certificates of indebtedness in full out of the commission fund in payment in full.
3. Decide that unsecured depositors of the Security State Bank of New England are prior and superior to the unsecured deposits of all other banks becoming insolvent subsequent to the insolvency of the Security State.

The petition in the suit instituted by Peter Lux is identical. Attorneys for plaintiffs are Crawford and Burnett of Dickinson and Chas. J. Simon and H. J. Miller, New England.

Election of officers, resolutions in memory of members who have died during the past year and other business was on the program for the concluding session of the North Dakota State Dental Association here this afternoon at the Masonic temple.

The banquet in Patterson's hall last night, theater party and the golf tournament in which Dr. B. W. Pole of Fargo won first prize concluded the entertainment features.

This morning several sections of the convention were occupied in clinic work, during which many difficult dental operations were performed for patients.

This included the crown and bridge section, of which Dr. J. W. Hamilton was chairman, and a table clinic by the Alford study club, Geo. F. Johnson and L. I. Gilbert. In the operative dentistry section, Dr. H. C. Cooper was chairman. Full operation was conducted by Dr. C. W. Putney as operator and Dr. H. H. Ewy as demonstrator, and another clinic by Dr. W. S. Dr. C. F. Sweet of Minot was chairman was the oral surgery section. Dr. P. C. Verne of Fargo talked and demonstrated taking and interpretation of dental X-rays, and Drs. G. Morkau, P. E. Ralston and L. C. Schmitz were on the program.

The Bismarck dentists were highly complimented by the visitors for their excellent arrangement of the convention. Several rooms at the Masonic temple were fitted up as clinics, complete dental offices being established.

150 at Banquet.

More than 150 dentists and their guests were entertained last evening at a banquet served by the McKnight hotel in Patterson's hall. Tables were set about the sides of a great square, an arrangement which made for rapid service of the dinner which was over in due time for the theater party at the Auditorium.

Dr. R. S. Towhe presided as toastmaster. In his opening address he stressed the point that dental associations such as they are now known were of recent origin. He said that the old idea of keeping secret methods and processes of the profession had passed away. Now dental surgeons were anxious to help not only the cause of public health but to pass on any ideas that might aid the dentist to make his work more perfect and elevate the standards of the profession.

Governor Nestos was then introduced and congratulated the dentists upon their interests in general health measures. He declared that the day in successful business had gone when there was only one side to a bargain and success meant getting the best end of that bargain.

"There must be two pleased customers to the transaction," he said. "Your profession has taken this view of the situation. You are more and more paying attention to general welfare."

Miss Minnie Nielson, state superintendent of schools, paid a high tribute to Dr. Towhe for his work in promoting the study of oral hygiene. She commended his text book entitled: "Your Teeth." This book is (Continued on Page 3)

VISIBLE DENT IN RYE CROP IS INDICATED

Reports From 21 County Agents of State Show Winter Rye Crop Less

NO BLACK RUST

Will Appear to Some Extent, However, Says Plant Pathologist

Fargo, N. D., June 7.—A visible dent in the 1923 rye crop of the United States is indicated by thin stands, short straw and fields not worth harvesting in many parts of North Dakota, according to reports for the period ending last Saturday received from 21 county agents at the office of the North Dakota Extension division at the Agricultural college.

In 1922 North Dakota produced more than one-quarter of the rye crop of the country, the total production for this state being 24,500,000 bushels, and the average production per acre 15.5 bushels. A considerable reduction in the acreage over the previous year was made last fall, however, and the reports of the present status of the crop indicate that the yield per acre as well as the total production of the state will fall far below that of last year. Rye is reported to be heading out in most parts of the state, but the county agents say that the straw is very short and the stands are spotted. From McLean county comes the report that many fields will be cut for hay or used for pasture.

Damage from cutworms, while not yet as serious as last year, is covering a wider territory, as several reports are received of the presence of this worm east of the Missouri river. Grasshopper damage, while not at all general, has resulted in plowing up fields of rye and wheat in northern McHenry county.

No rust has yet been reported on grain, according to Dr. Wanda Weniger, plant pathologist of the North Dakota Experiment station, who states that the earliest report of black stem rust recorded in the state in recent years is June 6. "Due to the lateness of the season, it is improbable that any black stem rust of wheat will be found before next week," Dr. Weniger declares. "However, specimens of barley bushes this year have shown the cluster-stage of the rust to be present as early as May 22. Black stem rust will surely be present in the crop, but at this early state it is not possible to make any estimate as to any opinion regarding the likelihood of the disease being generally epidemic. We have received no reports of damage from scab, and the cool weather immediately following seeding has evidently held this disease in check."

Individual reports from many counties for the period ending last Saturday follow:

McHENRY

"Spring wheat and early oats are up and are in good shape, while some oats is being seeded. Seeding of barley is finished and of flax is nearly finished, and some of the early flax is up. Winter rye seeded on stubble is in poor condition but is in good shape where it is planted on summer fallow. The crop is heading out. Spring rye looks fair but the stands are thin. Corn is up and very favorable weather has hastened its progress. Early sown potatoes are coming along in nice shape and some potatoes are still being planted. A general rule farmers are treating seed for disease. Alfalfa, sweet clover and native pastures are all in good condition. Grasshoppers are damaging rye and wheat crops in the northern part of the county, and some fields have been plowed up in the vicinity of Willow City. Bantley and Upham. Farmers do not believe that it is advisable to try to poison the insects due to the large amount of vacant land on which the hoppers can breed." M. C. Thomas, Townner.

WARD

"Corn and potato planting is on in full swing and practically all small grain seeding is finished. A large increase in the corn acreage and a very decided increase in the potato acreage are anticipated. Rye is beginning to head out. More than half an inch of rain fell during the week. Alfalfa and sweet clover are in good condition as well as other pasture crops." John Husby, Minot.

EQUITY CASH NOT ADVANCED

Last Day Passed Without Emerson Advancing Money

Fargo, N. D., June 7.—Yesterday was the final day for settlement by H. A. Emerson of the debts of the Equity Co-operative Packing Co., but he did not appear in Fargo nor did he send money to pay up the claims according to President C. W. Reichert of the packing company. Mr. Reichert said yesterday that the matter now is just where it was last March when Emerson's plan was the first taken up for consideration.

Mr. Reichert said that he has letters from Mr. Emerson of New York in which the latter says that he is now undecided what to do. It was understood yesterday that the matter will be held in abeyance until June 20.

The packing company owes about $155,000 on a property that cost about a million and a quarter. Several judgments and mortgages are on file against the property now, one judgment for about $50,000 having been secured by Louis Altendorn of Sabin, Minn.

EARNINGS OF RAILROADS OF U. S. INCREASED

Represents About 6 1/2 Per Cent Return, Is the Estimate of Experts

TRAFFIC IS GREATER

Western Earnings Are Lower Than Those of the Eastern Lines

Washington, June 7.—Earnings of class one railroads during April totaled $83,197,800, according to compilations made public yesterday by the American Railway Association which estimated that they represented an annual return of 6 1/2 percent on capital invested in transportation. The rate the highest attained since return of the roads to private ownership, resulted from freight traffic greater by 65 per cent during the month than the volume handled a year ago, and total operating revenue, which in spite of some reduction in railroad rates were more than 25 percent greater than during the same period last year.

In April, 1922, earnings were $49,575,000, while in March of this year they totaled $83,569,000. During first four months of this year the net operating income of the roads totaled $266,246,000, representing a 54.9 percent return on the estimated value of railroad property used in transportation. The class one lines for which the totals are compiled operate more than 90 percent of the country's rail mileage, and include all roads with more than $1,000,000 per year of gross revenue.

Western Rate Low

Considering the earnings by districts, the eastern and southern were shown to have attained a standard during April far above the Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling that 5-5-4 percent should be considered reasonable. Lines east of the Mississippi and generally north of the Ohio, showed April earnings of $49,321,000 which is at the annual return rate of 7.95 percent on their tentative value. Lines in the south-eastern district earned $12,281,000, or a rate of 7.18 percent.

On the other hand, the western district, including most of the roads in territory west of the Mississippi reported April earnings of $22,595,000 which the railway association estimated to represent 4.52 of their tentative capital value.

In spite of the generally good showing drawn from the composite earnings statement, 29 railroads during April had incurred operating deficits, 20 of them being roads in the western district.

GILMAN CO. TO PUT UP FINE NEW BUILDING

Plan to Erect Sales and Service Building This Year

Property at the corner of Broadway and Second streets is being cleared to permit erection of a modern automobile sales and service building by M. B. Gilman & Co., Dodge Bros. automobile sales and distributing firm.

Two houses on the lots which are on the southwest corner, are to be moved immediately, having been sold.

It is the plan of the Gilman company to build a modern brick building 50 by 140. Plans are in the course of preparation. They include a building with a full basement and first floor strong enough to support a three story building, the structure probably including the second story this year.

The building will be exclusively for Dodge Brothers sales and service. There are now about 2,000 Dodge cars in the company's distributing territory being serviced.

FIRST NORTHERN PACIFIC TRAIN PUFFED IN HERE 50 YEARS AGO; ROTARIANS OBSERVE OCCASION

Flowers Presented to Passengers on Fine Pacific Coast Limited of Railroad Today in Commemoration of Entrance of Railroad Here — Mrs. J. P. Dunn, Pioneer, Among Those at Station

Fifty years ago today Bismarck's first train, a little old fashioned engine with a few flat cars pushed into Bismarck.

Today a modern passenger train with a huge high-powered engine, modern day coaches, dining car, sleeping coaches with an observation platform was greeted by a group of Rotarians with arms full of carnations which they presented to the passengers on the train.

Cards attached to the flowers bore the inscription "To celebrate Bismarck's first train fifty years ago today." Among those at the station to meet the train as it arrived today was Mrs. John P. Dunn, pioneer resident of Bismarck, and one of the two women now in Bismarck, who watched the approach of the little old engine pushing its half dozen flat cars, work car, and cook shack as the steel rails were spiked to the heavy wooden ties that were dropped off the cars, fifty years ago.

Today the long train of coaches came thundering in at the rate of about sixty miles an hour, made but a short stop and rumbled on to the western coast. Fifty years ago the train crawled slowly up to the site of the present station and stopped for it was not until September 8 of the same year that the Golden Spike was driven at Garrison, Mont.

Today the arrival of the long string of coaches scarcely created a ripple of excitement except among the small group of Rotarians at the station to celebrate the occasion while fifty years ago the entire population of the little village of tents and cotton top homes were wildly enthusiastic and vociferous as they saw these heavy laden flat cars being pushed ahead by the steaming engine. They shouted and called and put their neighbors on the back, and a few resorted to firearms to add to the noise on the occasion. For weeks previous to the actual arrival of the train the inhabitants of Bismarck had done little but talk about the coming of the railroad. They had made daily trips to the little old wooden station to observe the advance of the railroad.

BEGIN SEARCH FOR "KING" OF CULT COLONY

Benjamin Purnell Charged With Offenses by Michigan Authorities

St. Joseph, Mich., June 7.—The search for "King Benjamin Purnell" is on in earnest. Armed with a warrant charging the missing House of David leader with a statutory offense against a 16-year-old girl the Berrien county sheriff's office raided Shioh, Purnell's residence at the Leighton Harbor colony and failing to find him there extended the search to other places in the state where it is thought Purnell might have sought refuge.

Gladys Stumford Ruel, former member of the colony cult, and inmate of Shioh, made the complaint on which the warrant was issued by Circuit Judge Charles E. White of Berrien county. He charges a series of assaults by Purnell over a period of three years, the first he avers when she was 13 years. The charges were brought within the statute of limitations by an alleged assault in 1918.

After the close of these gatherings, it is stated, crowds of the youthful unruly elements suspected of including some communists began stirring up provocative agitation in the neighboring streets against the police and the trade union leaders who were preserving order.

The police claimed that when they tried to suppress this counter demonstration a shot was fired from the crowd and the police then resorted to the use of blackjacks. This brought a shower of stones and bits of glass from the disturbers who in turn began using blackjacks and knives.

After vainly trying to disperse the crowd by shooting into the air the police shot directly at the rioters. Mounted police and other reinforcements soon after succeeded in restoring order.

PAYMENT LOWER THAN FIXED BY PEACE TREATY

Offers Her National Railways As Security for Annual Payments

WILLING, SHE CLAIMS

Avoids Ruhr Occupation and Other Points on Which Answer Was Asked

Berlin, June 7.—Germany's amendment to the reparations note, which was handed to the entente and the United States government this afternoon proposes a system of annuities estimated to total 1,200,000,000 marks annually if an international loan is not available for immediate capital payments.

"The annuities would become effective in 1927, and their number and amount would depend wholly on the degree of Germany's economic recovery. The memorandum declares an inevitable request to a practical solution of the reparations problem is the early convocation of a general conference to which Germany would be admitted on an equal basis."

The document is brief and wholly devoid of elucidation of the most important points on which the creditor nations had requested amplifying statement. It makes no mention of the political situation, the Ruhr occupation or the question of abandoning the passive resistance and indulges in no recriminations.

Neither does it refer to the conditions under which Germany is prepared to carry out the payment of the annuities.

7 KILLED AND MANY HURT IN GERMAN RIOTS

Demonstration Against Ruhr Occupation Results Fatally to Many

PARADES ARE HELD

Trade Unionists Fail in Their Attempt to Preserve Order

Berlin, June 7.—Seven persons were killed and more than 100 wounded in yesterday's disorders at Leipzig, it was announced in special dispatches from that city today. The dead include one policeman, the head watchman, while there are 15 policemen among the wounded, many of whom are in a serious condition.

The demonstration was in protest against the Ruhr occupation and the insufficiency of the unemployment dole. Some 30,000 persons, it is said, took part. Order had been completely restored at 9 o'clock last evening.

The demonstrators gathered under the auspices of the trade unionists and the occultists in five huge assemblies in the central part of the town. The demonstration was the climax of a number of minor parades and open air meetings which had occurred during the two days previous.

Toward the close of these gatherings, it is stated, crowds of the youthful unruly elements suspected of including some communists began stirring up provocative agitation in the neighboring streets against the police and the trade union leaders who were preserving order.

The police claimed that when they tried to suppress this counter demonstration a shot was fired from the crowd and the police then resorted to the use of blackjacks. This brought a shower of stones and bits of glass from the disturbers who in turn began using blackjacks and knives.

After vainly trying to disperse the crowd by shooting into the air the police shot directly at the rioters. Mounted police and other reinforcements soon after succeeded in restoring order.

ELECTION LAW PETITIONS O. K.

Difference in Form Not Fatal, Attorney-General Holds

R. W. Frazier, who filed petitions asking that three major election laws of the last legislature be submitted to vote of the people, will be informed by the Secretary of State that the petitions are sufficient. Deputy Secretary M. W. Duffy said today. The names, as checked by the secretary of state's office totaled from 8,800 to 9,400, the required number being 7,000.

Attorney General Geo. F. Shafer, in reply to request for an opinion on the sufficiency of the petitions since part of them carried a digest of the laws and part but the titles, said "we have examined these petitions in this respect and believe they sufficiently comply with the requirements of the constitutional amendment relating to the initiative and referendum."

The reparations commission originally decided that Germany, under the provision of the Versailles peace treaty, should be assessed damages for her aggression in the sum of 132,000,000,000 gold marks.

Amount Too Great.

Germany always has asserted that this amount was far beyond her ability to pay. In counter-proposals she has offered various sums, all of the far below the total asked in the original demands. In addition she has hedged about her tendered stipulations which the allies, and particularly France, have refused point-blank to consider. Insufficient guarantee that Germany would make good its promises always have been pointed out by France for that country declined to give full consideration to her offers.

Germany's first official offer was 30,000,000,000 gold marks, payable at the rate of 240,000,000 annually. Five years after a new arrangement of liquidation would be worked out for that period. The offer was conditional on Upper Silesia being awarded to Germany and the restoration of Germany's commercial privileges throughout the world. Her second tender was almost identical with the first as regards the amount, which in American money is $7,500,000,000. She also agreed to pay the equivalent of a 12 per cent tax on exports.

In April, 1921, came an offer of 200,000,000,000 gold marks, one billion of which was to be paid immediately and the remainder to be liquidated in annuities running over a long period of time, ultimately bringing the total with accrued interest up to 200 billion marks.

Meeting in the allied prime ministers in Paris at which the reparations differences between the officials became more accentuated. The British and French were agreed on a reparations figure of 50 billion gold marks and as on the question of comprehensive financial control. They were in direct opposition on the question of penalties, France desiring to seize guarantees along the Rhine and in the Ruhr while Great Britain did not desire any further occupation of German territory except in the case of some future default by Germany.

A few days later the French accompanied by the Belgians and some Italian forces entered the Ruhr. The last offer by Germany was for a total indemnity payment of thirty billion gold marks. All the allies immediately rejected.

Schneider's wife died suddenly more than a year ago in their home on the south side here. A chemist's examination of the contents of the stomach showed arsenic was present. The state charged that Schneider administered poison, he denying the charge. In his first trial, in district court here the jury was 11 to 1 for conviction.

EQUITY CASH NOT ADVANCED

Last Day Passed Without Emerson Advancing Money

Fargo, N. D., June 7.—Yesterday was the final day for settlement by H. A. Emerson of the debts of the Equity Co-operative Packing Co., but he did not appear in Fargo nor did he send money to pay up the claims, according to President C. W. Reichert of the packing company. Mr. Reichert said yesterday that the matter now is just where it was last March when Emerson's plan was the first taken up for consideration.

Mr. Reichert said that he has letters from Mr. Emerson of New York in which the latter says that he is now undecided what to do. It was understood yesterday that the matter will be held in abeyance until June 20.

The packing company owes about $155,000 on a property that cost about a million and a quarter. Several judgments and mortgages are on file against the property now, one judgment for about $50,000 having been secured by Louis Altenbernd of Sabin, Minn.

VISIBLE DENT IN RYE CROP IS INDICATED

Reports From 21 County Agents of State Show Winter Rye Crop Less

NO BLACK RUST

Will Appear to Some Extent, However, Says Plant Pathologist

Fargo, N. D., June 7.—A visible dent in the 1923 rye crop of the United States is indicated by thin stands, short straw and fields not worth harvesting in many parts of North Dakota, according to reports for the period ending last Saturday received from 21 county agents at the office of the North Dakota Extension division at the Agricultural college.

In 1922 North Dakota produced more than one-quarter of the rye crop of the country, the total production for this state being 24,000,000 bushels, and the average production per acre 15.5 bushels. A considerable reduction in the acreage over the previous year was made last fall, however, and the reports of the present status of the crop indicate that the yield per acre as well as the total production of the state will fall far below that of last year. Rye is reported to be heading out in most parts of the state, but the county agents say that the straw is very short and the heads are small. From McLean county comes the report that many fields will be cut for hay or used for pasture.

Damage from cutworms, while not yet as serious as last year, is covering a wider territory, as several reports are received of the presence of this worm east of the Missouri river. Grasshopper damage, while not at all general, has resulted in plowing up fields of rye and wheat in northern McHenry county.

No rust has yet been reported on grain, according to Dr. Wanda Weniger, plant pathologist of the North Dakota Experiment station, who states that the earliest report of black stem rust recorded in the state in recent years is June 6. "Due to the lateness of the season, it is improbable that any black stem rust of wheat will be reported before next week," Dr. Weniger declares. "However, specimens of barley rust this year have shown the cluster stage of the rust to be present as early as May 22. Black stem rust will surely be present in the crop, but as this early state it is not possible to make any estimate of its loss."

Dr. Weniger declares, "However, specimens of barley rust this year have shown the cluster stage of the rust to be present as early as May 22. Black stem rust will surely be present in the crop, but as this early state it is not possible to make any estimate of its loss."

In spite of the generally good showings drawn from the composite earnings statement, 29 railroads during April had incurred operating deficits, 20 of them being roads in the western district.

Individual reports from many counties for the period ending last Saturday follow:

McHENRY

"Spring wheat and early oats are up and are in good shape, while some oats are being seeded. Seeding of barley finished and flax is nearly finished and some of the early flax is up. Winter rye seeded on stubble is in poor condition but is in good shape where it is planted on summer fallow. The crop is headed out. Spring rye looks fair but the stands are thin. Corn is up and very favorable weather has hastened its progress. Early sown potatoes are coming along in nice shape and some potatoes are still being planted. As a general rule farmers are treating seed for disease. Alfalfa, sweet clover and native pastures are all in good condition. Grasshoppers are damaging rye and wheat crops in the northern part of the county, and some fields have been plowed up in the vicinity of Willow City. Bantry and Upham. Farmers do not believe that it is advisable to try to poison the insects due to the large amount of vacant land and the hoppers can breed." M. C. Thomas, Townier.

"Corn and potato planting is on in full swing and practically all small grain seeding is finished. A large increase in the corn acreage and a similar decrease in the potato acreage are anticipated. Rye is beginning to head out. More than half an inch of rain fell during the week. Alfalfa and sweet clover are in good condition as well as other pasture crops." John Husby, Minot.

MOUNTAIN

"Stubble in wheat is very weedy, but the balance of the wheat crop is looking good. Seeding of oats and barley is about finished with an increased acreage of 10 to 20 percent over last year. Rain totaling 7.71 inch which fell Monday night, helped the rye crop, but indications are that this crop will be light. Half of the corn is planted and the acreage of this crop will be increased 25 percent. About half of the potato planting is finished and a large amount of flax. Alfalfa and pastures are in excellent condition due to the warm weather and rain. Cut worms are reported to be working in occasional grain fields but the damage reported thus far is not serious nor wide spread." A. J. Bredford, Stanley.

BURKE

"Grain seeding is finished with the exception of flax. Rye will be headed out soon and is in good condition. Early seeded corn is up. Rye fall totaling 1 1/2 inches during the week benefited the crop; also pastured." (Continued on Page 2)

EARNINGS OF RAILROADS OF U. S. INCREASED

Represents About 6 1/2 Per Cent Return, Is the Estimate of Experts

TRAFFIC IS GREATER

Western Earnings Are Lower Than Those of the Eastern Lines

Washington, June 7.—Earnings of class one railroads during April totaled $85,197,800, according to compilations made public yesterday by the American Railway Association, which estimated they represented an annual return of 6 1/2 percent on capital invested in transportation. The rate the highest attained since return of the roads to private ownership, resulted from freight traffic greater by 55 per cent during the month than the volume handled a year ago, and total operating revenues, which, in spite of some reduction in railroad rates, were more than 35 percent greater than during the same period last year.

In April, 1922, earnings were $19,709,000, while in March of this year they totaled $83,668,000. During first four months of this year the net operating income of the roads totaled $286,246,000, representing a 5.49 percent return on the estimated value of railroad property used in transportation. The class one lines, which the totals are compiled operate more than 20 percent of the country's rail mileage, and include all roads with more than $1,000,000 per year of gross revenue.

Western Rate Low

Considering the earnings by districts, the eastern and southern were shown to have attained a standard during April far above the Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling that 5.34 percent should be considered reasonable. Lines east of the Mississippi and generally north of the Ohio, showed April earnings of $48,321,000 which is at the annual return rate of 7.93 percent on their tentative value. Lines in the southern district earned $12,281,000, or a rate of 7.18 percent.

On the other hand, the western district, including most of the roads in territory west of the Mississippi reported April earnings of $22,555,000 which the railway association estimated to represent 4.52 of their tentative capital value.

In spite of the generally good showings drawn from the composite earnings statement, 29 railroads during April had incurred operating deficits, 20 of them being roads in the western district.

GILMAN CO. TO PUT UP FINE NEW BUILDING

Plan to Erect Sales and Service Building This Year

Property at the corner of Broadway and Second streets is being cleared to permit erection of a modern automobile sales and service building by M. B. Gilman & Co., Dodge Bros. automobile sales and distributing firm.

Two houses on the lots which are on the southwest corner, are to be moved immediately, having been sold.

It is the plan of the Gilman company to build a modern brick building 60 by 140. Plans are in the course of preparation. They include a building with a full basement and first floor strong enough to support a three story building, the structure probably including the second story this year.

The building will be exclusively for Dodge Brothers sales and service. There are now about 2,000 Dodge cars in the company's distributing territory being served.

FIRST NORTHERN PACIFIC TRAIN PUFFED IN HERE 50 YEARS AGO; ROTARIANS OBSERVE OCCASION

Flowers Presented to Passengers on Fine Pacific Coast Limited of Railroad Today in Commemoration of Entrance of Railroad Here — Mrs. J. P. Dunn, Pioneer, Among Those at Station

Fifty years ago today Bismarck's first train, a little old fashioned engine with a few flat cars pushed into Bismarck.

Today a modern passenger train with a huge high-powered engine, modern day coaches, dining car, sleeping coaches with an observation platform was greeted by a group of Rotarians with arms full of carnations which they presented to the passengers on the train.

Cards attached to the flowers bore the inscription "To celebrate Bismarck's first train fifty years ago today." Among those at the station to meet the train as it arrived today was Mrs. John P. Dunn, pioneer resident of Bismarck, and one of the two women now in Bismarck, who watched the approach of the little old engine pushing its half dozen flat cars, work car, and cook shack as the steel rails were spiked to the heavy wooden ties that were dropped off the cars, fifty years ago.

Today the long train of coaches came thundering in at the rate of about sixty miles an hour, made but a short stop and rumbled on to the western coast. Fifty years ago the train crawled slowly up to the site of the present station and stopped for it was not until September 8 of the same year that the Golden Spike was driven at Garrison, Mont.

Today the arrival of the long string of coaches scarcely created a ripple of excitement except among the small group of Rotarians at the station to celebrate the occasion while fifty years ago the entire population of the little village of tents and cotton log homes were wildly enthusiastic and vociferous as they saw those heavy laden flat cars being pushed ahead by the steam engine. They shouted and called and patted their neighbors on the back, and a few resorted to fire arms to add to the noise on the occasion. For weeks previous to the actual arrival of the train the inhabitants of Bismarck had done little but talk about the coming of the railroad. They had made daily trips to the little old wooden station to observe the advance of the railroad.

BEGIN SEARCH FOR "KING" OF CULT COLONY

Benjamin Purnell Charged With Offenses by Michigan Authorities

St. Joseph, Mich., June 7.—The search for "King Benjamin Purnell" is on in earnest. Armed with a warrant charging the missing House of David leader with a statutory offense against a 15-year-old girl the Berrien county sheriff's office raided Shioh, Purnell's residence at the Benton Harbor colony and failing to find him there extended the search to other places in the state where it is thought Purnell might have sought refuge.

Glady's Stamford Ruel, former member of the colony cult, and inmate of Shioh, made the complaint on which the warrant was issued by Circuit Judge Charles E. White of Berrien county. He charges a series of assaults by Purnell over a period of three years, the first he avers when she was 13 years. The charges were brought within the statute of limitations by an alleged assault in 1918.

PAYMENT LOWER THAN FIXED BY PEACE TREATY

Offers Her National Railways As Security for Annual Payments

WILLING, SHE CLAIMS

Avoids Ruhr Occupation and Other Points on Which Answer was Asked

Berlin, June 7.—Germany's amendment to the reparations note, which was handed to the entente and the United States government this afternoon, proposes a system of annuities estimated to total 1,200,000,000 marks annually if an international loan is not available for immediate capital payment.

The annuities would become effective in 1927, and their number and amount would depend wholly on the degree of Germany's economic recovery. The memorandum declares an inevitable requisite to a practical solution of the reparations problem is the early convocation of a general conference to which Germany would be admitted on an equal basis.

The document is brief and wholly devoid of allusion to the mooted points on which the creditor nations had requested amplifying statements. It makes no mention of the political situation, the Ruhr occupation or the question of abandoning the passive resistance and indulges in no recriminations.

Neither does it refer to the conditions under which Germany is prepared to carry out the payment of the annuities.

Realisms Willingness.

The memorandum declares Germany's good will and willingness to meet her reparations obligations and asserts the conviction that the entire problem should be submitted to an impartial inquiry, the verdict of which, it declares, would be accepted by the German government.

As guarantees for the annuities the German government pledges the federal railway system which would be capitalized at ten billion marks yielding an annual bonded interest of 500,000,000 marks.

A further ten billion marks would be guaranteed by a gold 5 per cent mortgage, security for which would be furnished in physical holdings of industry, agriculture and shipping and the gold obligation assumed by banking and commercial interests and private real estate. This levy, it is estimated, would also yield 500,000,000 gold marks. The additional 200,000,000 of the annuity total would be raised by increased customs duties on articles of luxury and the creation of a government monopoly in tobacco and spirits.

The reparations commission originally decided that Germany, under the provision of the Versailles peace treaty, should be assessed damages for her aggression in the sum of 132,000,000,000 gold marks.

Amount Too Great.

Germany always has asserted that this amount was far beyond her ability to pay. In counter-proposals she has offered various sums, all of them far below the total asked in the original demands. In addition she has hedged about her tendered stipulations which the allies, and particularly France, have refused to consider. Insufficient guarantees that Germany would make good her promises always have been pointed out by France for that country declined to give full consideration to her offers.

Germany's first official offer was 20,000,000,000 gold marks, payable at the rate of 240,000,000 annually for five years with a new arrangement of liquidation to be worked out after that period. The offer was conditional on Upper Silesia being awarded to Germany and the restoration of Germany's commercial privileges throughout the world. Her second tender was almost identical with the first as regards the amount, which in American money is $7,500,000,000. She also agreed to pay the equivalent of a 12 per cent tax on exports.

In April, 1921, came an offer of 500,000,000,000 gold marks, one billion of which was to be paid immediately and the remainder to be liquidated in annuities running over a long period of time, ultimately bringing the total with accrued interest up to 200 billion marks.

Then in January, 1923, came the meeting of the allied prime ministers in Paris at which the reparations differences between the officials became more accentuated. The British and French were agreed on a reparations figure of 50 billion gold marks and as on the question of comprehensive financial control. They were in direct opposition on the question of penalties, France desiring to seize guarantees along the Rhine and in the Ruhr while Great Britain did not desire any further occupation of German territory except in the case of some future default by Germany.

A few days later the French accompanied by the Belgians and some Italian forces entered the Ruhr. The first offer by Germany was for a total indemnity payment of thirty billion gold marks. All the allies immediately rejected.

ASK OPINION ON EFFECT OF CO. AGENT VOTE

Commissioners Desire to Know Whether Appointment Is Mandatory

The county commissioners, after hearing statements made in favor of a county agent and discussing the matter, decided to ask the states attorney for an opinion as to whether under the vote last fall favoring an agent, it is mandatory upon the board to name one.

It is expected that the matter of the county agent will be disposed of finally at the next meeting of the board.

The board adopted a resolution calling for legal blank books and printing, with the intention of letting all such work to the lowest bidder. The board took this step in the interest of economy. Burleigh county firms are given an opportunity to bid on all work.

The commissioners also decided to accept personal bonds from bidders in whose banks checking accounts are carried, but to require such bonds from all banks in which time deposits are carried.

Bids of Carl V. Anderson of Bismarck and J. C. Young of Bismarck for concrete culverts were received. No award was made.

A number of requests for building new turnpikes and gravel roads were received. The commissioners spent today going over county roads.

American compositions will be used. And even an All-American symphony orchestra will play.

The convention will mark 25 years of earnest effort to create a distinctive art in this country.

When the federation started American music clubs were few. Now they number 1400, with more than a hundred thousand members.

STRANGLED TO DEATH.

Van Hook, N. D., June 6, Freddie, the fourteen month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Stringer, residing near Van Hook, met death Saturday afternoon in a most peculiar manner. "A Music Club for Every Town," has been the cry throughout these past years. And Mrs. John F. Lyons of Fort Worth, Tex., president, and other officials say there will be no slackening in the years to come.

"It is not always necessary to turn to foreign art for the most beautiful in music," Mrs. Lyons says. "Our country is young, which is probably responsible for the tendency to think of music and art in European terms. But no more will this be true."

"Our federation has constantly striven to encourage the young artist and to support American composers. And these two features of our work probably will be the outstanding points of interest at the coming convention."

2x4 posts and the bed clothing partly held him in such a way as to cause his neck to be wedged on the scantling.

MEMBERS OF FACULTY QUIT

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 6.—Resignations of ten of the leading faculty members of Oklahoma A and M College were filed with the state board of agriculture yesterday afternoon. All announced they were leaving the college because they could not serve under George Wilson, farmer-labor league leader, who was installed yesterday as president of the institution.

The letters of resignation were placed in the hands of J. B. Eskridge, retiring president, to be presented to the board of agriculture, in the event Wilson took office.

The feeling of the retiring faculty members was expressed by Dr. Tolman, who asserted that "he could not work under Wilson because his ideals of education, of government, of character and American principles" were out of harmony with those of Wilson.

The three farmer-labor league members of the board of agriculture, who elected Wilson, will meet the new college head in Stillwater tomorrow to receive his faculty recommendations.

At each point with the exception of the probable Sunday stop at Bismarck, there will be a demonstration of dairy cows and dairy equipment and addresses will be made. tures and meadows which are in fine shape." Karl Swanson, Bowbells.

WILLIAMS
"More than half of the flax has been seeded and planting of feed crops is about finished. Wheat is growing rapidly and looking excellent. The lack of rainfall was overcome by precipitation totaling 1.68 inches June 1. Pasture crops are growing rapidly." E. G. Schollander, Williston.

SLOPE
"Average acreages of corn and millet are being planted and flax seeding is on in full blast. A few fields of oats for hay are being planted. Both first and second year plantings of sweet clover are looking fine. A number of farmers are planting alfalfa with corn as a nurse crop. A rain totaling .39 inches fell May 30." Chas. Eastgate, Amidon.

MORTON
"Grains are looking fine but rain would be beneficial. Windy weather prevailed during the week with a light rain Saturday. Alfalfa is beginning to blossom and sweet clover is doing fine. A slight amount of gopher damage has been reported but no insect damage to date." Geo. H. Ilse, Mandan.

GRAND FORKS
"Rye is heading out but many fields are being plowed up due to the poor stand. Other small grain crops are in good condition. Most of the potato planting is finished, but considerable flax remains to be seeded. Rainfall the first half of the week totaled 1 1/2 inches. Stands of alfalfa and sweet clover are generally good and pastures and meadows have made a good growth during the week." D. B. Grand Forks.

FOSTER
"Seeding is practically finished, summer fallowing will begin shortly and the farmers will be haying in three or four weeks. Potato planting is about over with the acreage slightly reduced from last year. Farmers are cultivating corn. Pastures are just becoming good having been very slow due to cold weather. Warm weather prevailed during the week with a good rain June 3. Hail was reported along Pipe Stem Creek." C. C. Lake, Carrington.

McLEAN
"Rye is heading out with a very short straw and some fields will be cut for hay or used for pasture. Moisture is needed for this crop. Other grain is doing well but rain is needed in several localities. Late seeded grain is very uneven and stubbled in grain is getting weedy. Cutting of yellow sweet clover for hay will begin next week. Cut worms are doing some damage and one farmer has reported damage from grasshoppers. Rainfall during the week ranged from nothing to 3/4 inch." A. L. Nolting, Washburn.

GRANT
"Rye is heading out but the stand is generally poorer than last year. Corn planting is in full swing and a number of fields are up. Low germinating seed is responsible for poor stands in several fields. Wheat on corn ground and early seeded wheat is looking fine. Two good showers during the week helped all crops. Pastures and meadows are in excellent condition. Reports of cut worm damage are being received but they are not nearly so extensive as last year at this time." R. C. Newcomer, Carson.

ADAMS
"Some flax and millet is still being sown. Crops are looking good and a heavy soaking rain Saturday evening should benefit them. Alfalfa and sweet clover are over a foot high and cutting for hay will begin next week. No insect or rodent damage has been reported." P. J. Gwyther, Hettinger.

GOLDEN VALLEY
"All small grain is seeded and most of the corn is coming up. Some corn and alfalfa will be planted during the next two weeks. Ground is still being plowed for millet. Cut worms are again doing considerable damage but the plentiful supply of moisture is helping to hold them in check. The greatest damage is resulting in fields where grain has been poorly stubbled in. Alfalfa and sweet clover are looking fine. Heavy winds blew over a few barns. Rainfall totaled .46 inch." J. C. Russell, Beach.

MYSTERY, ADVENTURE UNFOLDED IN WALKER WHITESIDE'S "THE HINDU"

Mystery, adventure and danger, all to be found in the Far East of the imagination, and probably in reality, were unfolded before a large audience at the Auditorium last night by Walker Whiteside and his company in "The Hindu." The play was announced as "an enlivened mystery," not to be taken too seriously, but providing entertainment, here and there a thrill and a surprise that brought startled exclamations from an audience sometimes held almost breathless, and a plot which ought to have been obvious from the cast and structure of the play but which in all its details was pleasantly missed by most all until the denouement.

The long arm of Scotland Yard, London's great center for criminal investigation, has reached far both in fact and in fiction, and the stories told of the wizardry of the secret service made it easier for the audience to do as the management asked—to let the imagination play and enter into the spirit of the entertainment.

It did not, perhaps, stretch the imagination of the audience to believe the plot unfolded (after the many stories, whether fiction and fact, of war-time profiteering) of a gigantic scheme to profit by the rise in prices of Indian goods by fomenting revolution and halting production.

Mr. Whiteside, masquerading in the role of Prince Tamar but in reality Cunningham of the secret service, essayed to discover the "brains" of the scheme, the head proving to be an official in the English diplomatic service. Prince Tamar could never have been forgiven by the audience for his treatment of Miss Clarice Cartwright, even though he was re-vealed as white and in the secret as Miss Clarice Cartwright, was an service, had he not also confided in able leading lady for Mr. Whiteside, the end that she was his bride of a while the performance of Harold Vos-few weeks, also in the secret serv- burch as the villain of the play was ice.

ASKS AID IN ILLITERACY FIGHT IN N. D.

Governor Speaking at Picnic Urges Necessity of Eliminating It

DISCUSSES LANGUAGE

Niagara, N. D., June 7.—Enlistment in the fight against illiteracy and the promotion of the teaching of English among immigrants were stressed by Governor R. A. Nestos, speaking here this afternoon at a picnic of the Niagara-Shawnee Community Club. The picnic was in celebration of Norway's second great independence day, June 7, marking the anniversary of the day when it was voted to dissolve the bonds with Sweden.

After reviewing the world-wide struggle for liberty, the Governor urged his hearers to greater effort to aid in the development of their country.

"To you who are interested in patriotic service today, it must be pleasing to know that you may also enter into a great war for your country and for the promotion of its highest welfare—in a war against illiteracy and so fight for a higher type of Americanism, to have a greater feeling of personal responsibility on the part of all of our citizens, said Governor Nestos.

"The appalling conditions revealed by the draft records of the war should not be permitted to continue. It is almost unthinkable that we can build the fourth of a civilization if only a fourth of our male citizenship is enabled to read and write the English language. This lack is not among foreigners alone but to a large extent among those who are native born.

"Of course, we should give to the immigrant every opportunity and encouragement to learn the language of this country. It is going to be his home, his country, and he expects to participate in the task of governing the land of his adoption. For this reason it is not sufficient that he is able to read and write the language of his native country, but he must learn to read, write and understand reasonably well the language of the country of his adoption."

It was not necessary, the Governor said, for the foreigner to forget his own language, for America prides itself on being the melting pot of the nations.

"We want them to understand and appreciate just what element of strength their own people may furnish," he said. "Therefore, we want them to continue able to read and write their native languages, but they can contribute little to the growth and development of our American institutions unless they learn to use the English language in such a way as to enable them to appreciate the spirit of America and the ideals underlying the development of our institutions, to become able to use the English language in such a way that they can convey to the representatives of all of these other nationalities, and to the native-born Americans themselves an appreciation of the splendid things that their own people may contribute to the growth and greatness of America."

K. C. S. Engineer Tells How He Gained 37 Pounds

"When I start praising Tanlac I hardly know when to put on brakes," is the characteristic statement of Owen E. Moore, 1328 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., for many years engineer on the K. C. Southern. "The treatment put my whole system back in good running order and my weight went up from a hundred and fifty-three to a hundred and ninety pounds.

"A bad case of flu left me so run-down I could hardly walk down the street, and the way I lost weight alarmed me. Indigestion kept me in misery, constipation, biliousness and headaches were some of my worst troubles, and I was so unstrung a good night's sleep was out of the question.

MURDERED

A few minutes after she left some companions with whom she had been chatting and munching peanuts, Jennie, 20-year-old daughter of a local school girl, was brutally murdered in a lot near her home. It was the work of a maniac, the police think. A reward of $1000 has been offered by the city for the capture of the murderer.

IMMIGRATION EFFORT MUST BE SUSTAINED

P. O. Williams, Back From Field Trip To Iowa, Tells Of Work There

SAYS OUTLOOK GOOD

A sustained and systematic campaign of education to encourage immigration to North Dakota is necessary if proper results are to be obtained, according to P. O. Williams, of the state immigration department who has returned from a field trip into Iowa. Mr. Williams said:

"The all-important activity for the encouragement of immigration must be at all times be sustained and systematic educational campaign carried on abroad. To effect such a campaign this winter and spring, the helpful cooperation of Governor Nestos and Joseph Kitchen, commissioner of agriculture and labor, was heartily appreciated, as was that also of the railroads—principally the Northern Pacific.

"The campaign was carried into several of Iowa's flourishing cities, as well as villages and towns and the same expressions of surprise as to our fertile soil and great possibilities in the industrial world was manifested everywhere. The interesting exhibit I carried, including lignite coal, clay and pottery ware, had a tendency to increase this appreciation of our state.

"During this campaign I had the pleasure of meeting several persons well known to North Dakotans—among them Mr. Willet H. Hays, now of Eldora, and W. C. Ladage of Grand Center, large land owners in Hettiger county and the townships of New England, also Mr. Drake of the Drake-Ballard company, Minneapolis.

"The outlook for a considerable immigration from Iowa could not be brighter. The still prevalent high prices for land or rentals, precluding home ownership or, even the chances of breaking even, constitute a powerful ally, which it is our privilege to take advantage of.

All of all it will be a day long to be remembered by those participating. Mott boosters wish to extend a cordial invitation to the people of this district to join them in one grand celebration."

DENTISTS END 18TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

Praise for Work. The dentists were highly praised for their efforts to aid in public health work. Miss Nielsen declared that at every institute for teachers some dentist has volunteered his services to instruct teachers in the elementary branches of oral hygiene. She suggested that the state association of dentists collect a history of pioneer dentistry in this state for the state historical society. She asked also that pictures of the dentists here in territorial days and in the last few years of statehood be filed with the society. She said a similar movement was being started among the physicians of the state.

Special musical numbers were given during the banquet by the McKenzie hotel orchestra.

Mrs. V. J. LaRose gave two vocal solos, "At Dawning," Cadman, and "Build Your Castles in the Air." These were presented in a most artistic manner. Miss Roberta Best gave two charming violin numbers: "Concerto" by Beethoven and "The Swan" by Saint-Saens. Mrs. Genevieve Menard Hughes accompanied the soloists on the piano, adding much to the success of the numbers.

Last but not least Harry Bernstein and Archie McPhee presented "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Sheen," a hit of the last Elks' minstrel show. It received the hearty endorsement of the dentists and they had to go through the whole repertoire.

ASKS AID IN ILLITERACY FIGHT IN N. D.

Governor Speaking at Picnic
Urges Necessity of Eliminating It

DISCUSSES LANGUAGE

Niagara, N. D., June 7.—Enlistment in the fight against illiteracy and the promotion of the teaching of English among immigrants were stressed by Governor R. A. Nestos, speaking here this afternoon at a picnic of the Niagara-Shawnee Community Club. The picnic was in celebration of Norway's second great independence day, June 7 marking the anniversary of the day when it was voted to dissolve the bonds with Sweden.

After reviewing the world-wide struggle for liberty, the Governor urged his hearers to greater effort to aid in the development of their country.

"To you who are interested in patriotic service today, it must be pleasing to know that you may also enter into a great war for your country and for the promotion of its highest welfare—in a war against illiteracy and so fight for a higher type of Americanism, to have a greater feeling of personal responsibility on the part of all of our citizens," said Governor Nestos.

"The appalling conditions revealed by the draft records of the war should not be permitted to continue. It is almost unthinkable that we can build the right kind of a civilization of only a fourth of our male citizenry is enabled to read and write the English language. This lack is not only a foreigner's alone but to a large extent among those who are native born."

"Of course, we should give to the immigrant every opportunity and encouragement to learn the language of this country. It is going to be his home, his country, and he expects to participate in the task of governing his land of his adoption. For this reason it is not sufficient that he be able to read and write the language of his native country, but he must also learn to read, write and understand reasonably well the language of the country of his adoption."

It was not necessary, the Governor said, for the foreigner to forget his own language, for America prides itself on being the melting pot of the nations.

"We want them to understand and appreciate just what element of strength their own people may furnish," he said. "Therefore, we want them to continue to be able to read and write their native languages, but they can contribute little to the growth and development of our American institutions unless they learn to use the English language in such a way as to enable them to appreciate the spirit of America and the ideals underlying the development of our institutions, to become able to use the English language in such a way that they can convey to the representatives of all of these other nationalities and to the native-born Americans themselves an appreciation of the splendid things that our own people may contribute to the growth and greatness of America."

K. C. S. Engineer Tells How He Gained 37 Pounds

"When I start praising Tanlac I hardly know when to put on brakes," is the characteristic statement of Owen E. Moore, 1328 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., for many years engineer on the K. C. Southern. "The treatment put my whole system back in good running order and my weight went up from a hundred and fifty-three to a hundred and ninety pounds."

"A bad case of flu left me so run-down I could hardly walk down the street, and the way I lost weight alarmed me. Indigestion kept me in misery, constipation, biliousness and headaches were some of my worst troubles, and I was so unstrung a good night's sleep was out of the question."

"The Tanlac treatment switched me back on the right track in fast time. My digestion is first-class, everything I eat agrees with me, and I feel as sound and fit as I ever did. Tanlac gets my O. K. every time."

Tanlac is for sale by all druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

Stock of Defunct Drug Store Sold

Dickinson, June 7.—Sale of the stock and fixtures formerly owned by the defunct Beedle Drug company to the South Side Drug company for a consideration of $6,700 was confirmed by the creditors at a meeting held at the office of Benton Baker, referee in bankruptcy, Friday morning. The South Side Drug company was the successful bidder at the sale conducted at the store ten days ago by A. H. Deiters, trustee in bankruptcy, over several others who attended the sale. The creditors gave the transaction their approval and possession will now be given.

The new owners have announced their intention to put a new and complete stock on the shelves, and to open the store within a very short time.

IMMIGRATION EFFORT MUST BE SUSTAINED

P. O. Williams, Back From Field Trip to Iowa, Tells Of Work There

SAYS OUTLOOK GOOD

A sustained and systematic campaign of education to encourage immigration to North Dakota is necessary, according to P. O. Williams, of the state immigration department who has returned from a field trip into Iowa. Mr. Williams said:

"The all-important activity for the encouragement of immigration must at all times be a sustained and systematic educational campaign carried on abroad. To effect such a campaign this winter and spring, the helpful cooperation of Governor Nestos and Joseph Kitchin, commissioner of agriculture and labor, was heartily tendered, as was that also of the railroads—principally the Northern Pacific."

"The campaign was carried into several of Iowa's flourishing cities, as well as villages and towns and the same expressions of surprise as to our fertile soils and great possibilities in the industrial world was manifested everywhere. The interesting exhibit I carried, including lignite coal, clay and pottery ware, had a tendency to increase this appreciation of our state."

"During this campaign I had the pleasure of meeting several persons well known to North Dakotans—among them Mr. Willet H. Hays, of Eldora, and W. C. Lodge of Grundy Center, large land owners in Hettinger county and the townsite of New England, also Mr. Drake of the Drake-Ballard company, Minneapolis."

"The outlook for a considerable immigration from Iowa could not be brighter. The still prevalent high prices for land or rentals, precluding home ownership or, even the chances of breaking even, constitute a powerful ally, which it is our privilege to take advantage of."

MOTT WILL CELEBRATE 4TH

Spectacular Event Is To Be Held

"Mott the Spot" has decided to stage a celebration on the "Grand and Glorious Fourth" in a program of spectacular events, which will eclipse all former efforts in that line by enterprising cities of this district.

Among the many events of interest to visitors may be mentioned the following: 100 guns at sunrise; a grand industrial parade with many comical stunts; a patriotic oration by one of the best speakers of this district; a big ball game between two neighboring town teams; an immense bowry will be built in which to trip the light fantastic to the strains of alluring music; an aeroplane will be soaring over the heads of the crowds all day, taking passengers on flights at $7 per; Mott's celebrated brass band will be in attendance to help make the occasion enjoyable; there will be street sports galore, auto and horse races, and in the evening a grand display of fireworks. All of it will be a day long to be remembered by those participating. Mott boosters wish to extend a cordial invitation to the people of this district to join them in one grand celebration."

The Prince of Wales receives an average of more than 700 letters daily and frequently the number is as high as 1,500 or 1,600.

Let us not get impatient if the probable immigration does not take on large proportions immediately.

On the other hand, these people have leases to complete, debts to pay, interests or equities to dispose of, and friends and relatives to console who indulgently often attempt to postpone their departure.

"Among the cities where North Dakota demonstrations were held, I wish to mention Ackley, the former home of our Judge Jansorgus, whose bright record and promotion I touched on in my address; also the town of Hubbard, the home of Frank Lowden, where I also met Mrs. Sheldon of Bismarck, his sister, and the busy Parkersburg, noted for its wealth in dollars as well as boys of the Lahr type."

DENTISTS END 18TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

new textbook in the state schools and has gone through one edition.

Praise for Work.
The dentists were highly praised for their efforts to aid in public health work. Miss Nielson declared that at every institute for teachers some dentist has volunteered his services to instruct teachers in the elementary branches of oral hygiene. She suggested that the state association of dentists collect a history of pioneer dentistry in this state for the state historical society.

She asked also that pictures of the dentists here in territorial days and in the first few years of statehood be filed with the society. She said a similar movement was being started among the physicians of the state. Special musical numbers were given during the banquet by the McKenzie hotel orchestra.

Mrs. V. J. LaRose gave two vocal solos, "At Dawning," Cadman, and "Build Your Castles in the Air." These were presented in a most artistic manner. Miss Roberta Best gave two charming violin numbers: Concerto by De Beriot and "The Swan" by Saint Saens. Mrs. Genevieve Menard Hughes accompanied the soloists on the piano, adding much to the success of the numbers.

Last but not least Harry Bernstein and Archie McPhee presented "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean," a hit of the last Elks' minstrel show. It received the hearty endorsement of the dentists and they had to go through the whole repertoire.

Have You Indigestion, Gas or Stomach Trouble?

READ THIS REMARKABLE CASE

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For over fifteen years I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have spells of acute indigestion and would suffer untold agony. Nothing I ate agreed with me, gas would form, and my food did not nourish me. I also had a lingering cough that was very annoying. I was down sick in bed when a friend advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It not only got me up out of my sick bed, but has rid me of my cough and completely cured me of my stomach trouble so that I can eat anything I choose without any bad effect."—Mrs. E. F. ## Is he a "Tire Dealer"— or Does he sell Silvertowns?

Motorists themselves draw that distinction. In every community some men are "in the tire business," while others are recognized as the Goodrich Silvertown Cord Tire dealers. The name of Silvertown symbolizes a merchant who is alive, far-sighted, prepared to serve his customers in the best way.

To these merchants Silvertowns signify the greatest value possible in tires. They have selected them as their leader because they know the advantage of the Goodrich principle of one quality, one grade and one name. Your Goodrich dealer has back of him the entire Goodrich organization. With full stocks in all sizes of Silvertowns he is ready to take care of your tire needs immediately.

Musser of the National Guernsey Cattle club; C. L. Burnington of the National Ayrshire association; W. L. Baird of Waukesha, in charge; Hugh Van Pelt, Waterloo, Iowa, representing the Jersey Cattle club, and Prof. J. H. Sheppard of the North Dakota Agricultural college, will be among the passengers on the special.

The following stops of one day will be made:

  - Jamestown, June 23.
  - Bismarck (probably June 24).
  - Mandan, June 25.
  - Dickinson, June 26.
- At each point with the exception of the probable Sunday stop at Bismarck, there will be a demonstration of dairy cows and dairy equipment and addresses will be made. tures and meadows which are in fine shape." Karl Swanson, Bowbells.

WILLIAMS
"More than half of the flax has been seeded and planting of feed crops is about finished. Wheat is growing rapidly and looking excellent. The lack of rainfall was overcome by precipitation totaling 1.68 inches June 1. Pasture crops are growing rapidly." E. G. Schollander, Williston.

SLOPE
"Average acreages of corn and millet are being planted and seedling is on in full blue. A few fields of oats for hay are being planted. Both first and second year plantings of sweet clover are looking fine. A number of farmers are planting alfalfa with corn as a nurse crop. A rain totaling .39 inches fell May 30." Chas. Eastgate, Amidon.

MORTON
"Grains are looking fine but rain would be beneficial. Windy weather prevailed during the week with a light rain Saturday. Alfalfa is beginning to blossom and sweet clover is doing fine. A slight amount of zopher damage has been reported but no insect damage to date." Geo. H. Ilse, Mandan.

GRAND FORKS
"Rye is heading out but many fields are being plowed up due to the poor stand. Other small grain crops are in good condition. Most of the potato planting is finished, but considerable flax remains to be seeded. Rainfall the first half of the week totaled 1 1/2 inches. Stands of alfalfa and sweet clover are generally good and pastures and meadows have made a good growth during the week." D. B. Morris, Grand Forks.

FOSTER
"Seeding is practically finished, summer following will begin shortly and the farmers will be haying in three or four weeks. Potato planting is about over with the average slightly reduced from last year. Farmers are cultivating corn. Pastures are just becoming good having been very slow due to cold weather. Warm weather prevailed during the week with a good rain June 3. Hail was reported along Pipe Stem Creek." C. C. Lake, Carrington.

MCLEAN
"Rye is heading out with a very short straw and some fields will be cut for hay or used for pasture. Moisture is needed for this crop. Other grain is doing well but rain is needed in several localities. Late seeded grain is very uneven and stubbled in grain is getting weedy. Cutting of yellow sweet clover for hay will begin next week. Cut worms are doing some damage and one farmer has reported damage from grasshoppers. Rainfall during the week ranged from nothing to 3/4 inch." A. L. Norling, Washburn.

GRANT
"Rye is heading out but the stand is generally poorer than last year. Corn planting is in full swing and a number of fields are up. Low germinating seed is responsible for poor stands in several fields. Wheat on corn ground and early seeded wheat is looking fine. Two good showers during the week helped all crops. Pastures and meadows are in excellent condition. Reports of cut worm damage are being received but they are not nearly so extensive as last year at this time." E. C. Newcomer, Carson.

ADAMS
"Some flax and millet is still being sown. Crops are looking good and a heavy soaking rain Saturday evening should benefit them. Alfalfa and sweet clover are over a foot high and cutting for hay will begin next week. No insect or rodent damage has been reported." P. J. Grayson, Hettinger.

GOLDEN VALLEY
"All small grain is seeded and most of the corn is coming up. Some corn and alfalfa will be planted during the next two weeks. Ground is still being plowed for millet. Cut worms are again doing considerable damage but the plentiful supply of moisture is helping to hold them in check. The greatest damage is resulting in fields where grain has been poorly stubbled in. Alfalfa and sweet clover are looking fine. Heavy winds blow over a few barns. Rainfall totaled .46 inch." J. C. Russell, Beach.

MYSTERY, ADVENTURE UNFOLDED IN WALKER WHITESIDE'S "THE HINDU"

Mystery, adventure and danger, all to be found in the Far East of the imagination, and probably in reality, were unfolded before a large audience at the Auditorium last night by Walker Whiteside and his company in "The Hindu." The play was announced as "an enlivened mystery," not to be taken too seriously, but providing entertainment, here and there a thrill and a surprise that brought startled exclamations from an audience sometimes held almost breathless, and a plot which ought to have been obvious from the cast and structure of the play but which in all its details was pleasantly missed by most all until the dénouement.

The long arm of Scotland Yard, London's great center for criminal investigation, has reached far both in fact and in fiction, and the stories told of the wizardry of the secret service made it easier for the audience to do as the management asked—to let the imagination play and enter into the spirit of the entertainment.

It did not, perhaps, stretch the imagination of the audience to believe the plot unfolded (after the many stories, whether fiction and fact, of war-time profiteering) of a gigantic scheme to profit by the rise in prices of Indian goods by fomenting revolution and halting production.

Mr. Whiteside, masquerading in the role of Prince Tamar but in reality Cunningham of the secret service, essayed to discover the "brains" of the scheme, the head proving to be an official in the English diplomatic service. Prince Tamar could never have been forgiven by the audience for his treatment of Miss Clarice Cartwright, even though he was re- vealed as white and in the secret service, had he not also confided in able leading lady for Mr. Whiteside, the end that she was his bride of a while the performance of Harold Vos- few weeks, also in the secret serv- ice, as the villain of the play was good.

NEW YORK'S "WET" VICTORY

Governor Smith's signature to the measure repealing New York's prohibition enforcement act is rather an empty victory for the wets. The significance of Gov. Smith's action was well outlined in his statement or memorandum that went with the signing of the Mullan-Gage act.

Of course the Volstead act is still operative in New York and each and every law officer is under oath to enforce that measure whether he belongs to the state or the federal regime. The chief significance of the whole official act is to place the trial of offenders against the Volstead Act in the federal rather than in state courts. It removes the possibility of a man being tried or punished twice for the same offense.

Governor Smith in his statement declared against the saloon and urged especially upon every official to cooperate with federal authorities and upon their own initiative to see that the federal law, which of course is the law of every state too, is rigidly enforced.

It would seem that the wets are placing too much significance upon the signing of the repeal measure. New York cannot now manufacture or distribute beer and light wines any more than before the law was passed repealing the state's dry act.

What the prohibitionists fear, however, is that the refusal of New York's chief executive to countenance a special state dry act, will mean lax enforcement on the part of the state officials, a tendency to shift the burden to federal officers in the absence of any specific state laws on the enforcement of prohibition.

Enthusiastic wets even now are heralding Gov. Smith as the outstanding pro-liquor candidate for president. The forces who urge the return of beer and light wine think other states will in due time follow New York's action and see in this trend of legislation a protest against the stringency of the federal dry act.

This may be the general reaction to New York's move but the immediate effect in the Empire state will be to put the chief expense of the enforcement upon the treasury department and the burden of litigation will be in the federal rather than state courts. Also there will be a tendency on the part of the federal authorities to strengthen their dry enforcement organization in New York.

THE RIGHT ACTION

The county commissioners, it is to be hoped, will agree with the representatives of the Burleigh County Farm Bureau and J. W. Haw, county agent leader, and name a county agent for Burleigh county. The commissioners are, of course, mindful of expense and are charged with exercising their own discretion, but with such a vote as was registered for a county agent last fall there ought not to be any hesitation in appointing one. As Mr. Haw pointed out the vote of 3 to 1 for the agent was about the same proportion both in the city of Bismarck as outside. The farmers' majority was for the agent.

The commissioners took a step in the right direction in deciding to advertise for bids for county printing and supplies. All Burleigh county firms will now have an opportunity to bid on the work, most of which has gone outside of the county in the past without any good reason. The action favors no individual except the taxpayer, for it is his guarantee that there will be economical expenditures of county funds.

The commissioners also decided to advertise for bids for bonds which may be sold, although in view of the decision in the taxpayers' suit they were not obliged to do so. Burleigh county's credit is good and her bonds ought to sell well. Even if a more advantageous deal could be made without bids, it is as a general rule advisable from the standpoint of public officials and the public to act upon bids which give all bidders an equal opportunity.

EXPLOSIONS

Nearly 432 million pounds of explosives were sold in our country during 1922, the Bureau of Mines announces. For industrial uses, such as coal mining.

We imprison, transport and release a stupendous power in the commercial use of explosives, a power that combined is almost beyond the imagination.

And yet we are unable to control the explosive, human emotion. So we have war, poverty, misery, broken hearts. Man has less control over himself than he has over anything else in life—even the climate and weather.

CHINESE

The Chinese are taxed tighter than any other people, says F. R. Eldridge, one of Uncle Sam's Far Eastern experts.

The average Chinese pays only 60 cents a year taxes, in our money, which compares with $60 a head in our country for national taxation alone. Still, day labor in China gets only 15 cents a day. Figure it out on a work or labor basis, and the Chinese are not so far behind us.

They have one real advantage, though. Their total foreign and domestic debt is only 900 million dollars or $2.25 a head. Ours must be several hundred times as much.

COAL

Enough coal still underground in our country to last us 6033 years at the rate we're using it up now, says R. Z. Virgin, editor of the Coal Trade Review. That's not counting Alaska, which has enough unmined coal to supply the states west of the Rockies for 1000 years.

In the face of this enormous supply, we have periodical coal shortages, a ridiculous paradox that can be partly eliminated if householders this summer will buy their coal supply for next winter. Summer prices may save you considerable money, far more than compound interest on the investment.

POET'S CORNER

MARTIN TABERT.

From the land of North Dakota where the dark Missouri flows, And in summer miles of wheat fields wealth and happiness disclose, Came the youthful Martin Tabert, led by wanderlust to roam To the far away savannas of the southland, and a home

Sought he, where the snows and blizzards of the northland never were seen, But instead, a land of flowers, clad in bright perpetual green.

Land the tourist seeks in winter, and where birds that migrate come To escape the cold of winter in their snow-clad northern home.

Here came Martin, whose ambition was to gain a livelihood With his hands inured to labor where'er he with honor could.

Florida had naught to offer, though he sought work everywhere; Misadventure had pursued him till at length 'twas his to share.

Convict labor, though no crime had he committed anywhere, But for pelf by grasping "boss-guard" was he sent duresse to bear.

Bleeding feet and dire exposure suffered he, too weak to keep Abreast of what the "boss" demanded in a ditch with mud knee deep.

Then, for failure, was he beaten in a fenshish, shameful way, Past all reason till he swooned, and God in love took him away.

Away from fenshish, brutal torture, and from friends who loved him well, But who knew not of his suffering—God alone their pain could tell!

Took him to Himself, He loved him, like the prisoner long ago, Who to Paradise, the blessed, with the Christ did meekly go.

Prisoner Comrades, hail the triumph which to you the state has brought, Moved by Martin's death to action 'gainst an evil else unsought!

Go "forever!" is its mandate! penance and the last must go! And the New York World, promoter of the change with heart and song, Cherish for its brave contention—right must triumph over wrong. CALEB BENHAM, Hilliard, Fla.

THE SWIMMING SEASON'S IN AGAIN

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HIS FRIEND, SYDNEY CARTON.

DEAR SYD: You are a friend, I'll tell the world. I didn't care what you called me after I saw the check. It made me a substantial payment on my stock. In fact, the dividend was much more than I expected, consequently I was able to give the firm the check for the full amount due from me.

Some way, Syd, I don't seem to realize yet, when I am away from Leslie, that I am married at all. I expect I shouldn't let a fascinating flapper fill my eye when I pass her on the street. I know I would be jealous as the devil of Leslie if I thought she were smiling at any man, young or old.

Habits are stronger than martial virtues, however, and I have a great sympathy for that old fellow who said, "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

Then I am worried, I must own it, Syd. I am terribly worried over Paula Perrier. I don't mind telling you that those letters are rather compromising and lately she has been acting very queerly.

I wonder what Leslie would do if Paula should send them to her. (She laughingly promised to do so the other night if I neglected her.)

Sometimes a man ready to make a clean breast of it to my wife. I really should have done so the other night when Leslie, apropos to something we were talking about, said that she did not think either a husband or wife had any business with the other's past; all one could ask of the other was that the present and future be his or hers in like devotion, loyalty and trust.

I really should have told her then, but that very day that asinine florist had sent his bill to the house instead of my office and on it was the sixteen dollars he had stung me for a basket of flowers. I had sent it to Paula when she had written me a sad little letter, saying she was sick and asking me to call upon her.

It seemed to me at that time that sixteen dollars was very little to pay for the privilege of staying away from her, but the notation that Leslie had put on the bottom of the bill was, "The florist must have made a mistake. I have not received a basket of flowers." This put an entirely different complexion on the fool girl.

You could see, old scout, how much chance I would have had, after she had seen that bill, of making Leslie believe that I cared nothing more for Paula now when I told her of the tender passages between us before marriage and she had proof that I was still interested to the value of sixteen dollars.

was most important that the Twins should not be delayed, for they were off to hunt for Nancy's rag doll.

Ruby Joan was her name and either she had run away or been kidnapped or gone visiting or got lost or something else terrible had happened to her, for she wasn't in the play room or anywhere in the house.

The Fairy Queen, learning of the trouble, had promised to help, so she gave the Twins free tickets on Sister Toots' train and told them to look in every town in Choo-Choo Land.

Rp! Rp! Rp! went the whistle. Toot! Toot! Toot! It went still louder.

The wheels turned, the trees began to fly by, the whole world seemed in a whirl.

The Choo-Choo Land Express was rushing along so fast it almost took the Twins' breath away.

Mister Punch, the conductor, came through for tickets and it was all he could do to keep his balance.

Suddenly the train slowed up and Mister Punch called out: "Jack Town. Ten minutes for lunch."

RESTRAIN FUND SPENDING
Jamestown, N. D., June 7.—An order restraining the state law library, clerk of supreme court, state auditor and treasurer from issuing warrants on State Bar Board funds for repair or purchase of books for the state law library, was issued on petition of John Knauft, Jamestown, in behalf of the State Bar Board. Hearing on this matter will be on June 18 in Bismarck.

In a sparrow's nest examined recently were found, among other things, an old railway ticket, a safety pin, half a cigarette, a small buckle, the finger of a kid glove and nearly half a yard of bandage.

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

YOU EXHAUST MY PATIENCE! EVERY TIME A PERSON TRIES TO GET AN EXPRESSION OF OPINION OR A DEFINITE ANSWER FROM YOU THEY DON'T GET IT! TELL ME, DID YOU EVER IN YOUR LIFE SAY EITHER YES OR NO?

WHY?

The young woman's sympathetic regard of Gray's victim changed to a glare of hostility as she turned upon the speaker, crying: "You brute! You ought to be arrested!"

"He ast me to wait, Arline—"

"To delay asking you a question which I felt should be more seriously considered. In the absence of his family I took it upon myself to—"

"See here," the woman demanded. "What have you been telling Buddy about me? I told him all there was to tell."

"Quite all? I fear you have not been as frank as you would have me believe. That in fact, explains my connection with the affairs."

"Well spring the bad news," said Miss Montague.

Gray bowed. "Suppose we ignore the early convent training and the Old Kentucky Home and agree that they are pleasant fictions like the estate which you are in such imminent danger of inheriting. Those, I'm sure you will admit, are entirely imaginary." Buddy Briskow's swollen eyelids opened wider, his tumid lips parted, and an expression of surprise spread over his drooping countenance.

"Buddy's belief, however, that your stage career was blasted and your young life laid waste by a scion of a rich New York house should, in the interests of truth, be corrected."

"He knows I was married."

"True. But not to Bennie Fulton, the jockey."

"That is a—lie!"

"Nor that the estimable Mr. Fulton, instead of perishing upon the field of glory, dodged the draft and is doing as well as could be expected of a jockey who has been ruled off every track in the country, and is now a common gambler against whom the finger of suspicion is leveled."

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Calvin Gray comes to Dallas, home of Colonel Henry Nelson, banker. Gray threatens to break Nelson financially because of an emmy existing between the two men. Gus Briskow strikes oil and asks Gray to help the family tide over the rough spots. Arline, the daughter, is in love with Gray. Bud, the son, runs away from school. Gray follows to bring Bud home and find the boy in the hands of an adventuress. Bud resents interference and Gray and he fight until Bud is knocked unconscious. Gray and an associate, Mallow, bring the son of the adventuress to Bud's hotel.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
The youngster, a boy of indeterminate age, advanced and shook hands. There was no mistaking him; he was Margie Fulton's son in size, in coloring, in features. "I told Bennie you could use a bright kid about his age. And he's bright!"

It required no clever analysis of the lad to convince Gray that he was indeed bright, as bright—and as hard—as a silver dollar. He had a likable face, or it would have been likable had it been in repose. It was twitching now and Gray said, with a smile, "Go ahead and laugh, son."

The urchin's lips parted in a wide grin, and he spoke for the first time. "Did the Germans do that?" The effect of his voice was startling for it was deep and husky; it was the older man's turn to be astonished.

"He could pass for fifteen on the street," Mallow said. "But when he talks I think him down for thirty-five. How old are you, Ben?"

"Seventeen. What's the big idea, anyhow?" The question was directed, impudently at the occupant of the divan. "Did you send all the way to Hot Springs to get a guy you can lick?"

"Your mother is here in Dallas, my boy?"

"Yeah?" There was a pause. "How's it breaking for her?"

"Um, very well. I thought she'd like to see you."

Bennie cocked his head, he eyed the speaker curiously, suspiciously. "Come clean," he rumbled. "Mallow said you could use me."

"I can. I will."

The boy shrugged. "All right, Sharkey. I s'pose it'll come out, in time. Only remember, I've got twenty coming, win or lose."

"Or course," Gray waved toward the dresser, upon which was a handkerchief of twine. "Help yourself. Better make it twenty-five. Then wait outside, please. We will join you in a few minutes."

"And don't make it thirty," Bennie's traveling companion sharply cautioned.

When the door had closed, Gray gave his friend certain instructions, after which he limped to the telephone and called Arline Montague. "May I ask you to step down to Buddy's room?" he inquired, after making himself known. "Oh, it will be quite all right. We three must have a little talk. But he couldn't see you last night. He was quite ill, really; I sat up with him most of—"

Hospital Romance Leads to Marriage

A romance in which a nurse of the Bismarck hospital and a badly wounded veteran of the World War took the leading roles culminated yesterday in the marriage of Miss Mabel Irene Pendray, daughter of former state Senator and Mrs. The late Pendray of Jamestown and Frederick Hagel of Mound City, S. D. in Jamestown.

The bride, a graduate nurse from the Bismarck hospital in 1922, met her husband less than three years ago while he was under treatment at the hospital for wounds sustained while on the battle fields of France. To add to the romantic atmosphere of the situation Mr. Hagel was made a candidate for the office of county auditor in his home state by his friends without him knowing anything about it and was elected to the office even though ill in a hospital in another state. Upon his recovery he returned home and assumed his position and was elected to his office at the next election.

Mr. and Mrs. Hagel have left on a honeymoon trip through the Yellowstone Park and the Black Hills. They were expected to stop here enroute. When they return they will make their home in Mound City, S. D.

SUMMER CARE FOR BABY

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of a series of articles on summer care of babies, prepared especially for The Bismarck Tribune readers by the U. S. Public Health Service.

BOTTLE FEEDING
There is no such thing as cheap milk for children, particularly babies. Milk and all that concerns it is more important to the baby than everything else put together. The best milk is mother's milk; and the best substitute, when mother's milk cannot be had, is certified cow's milk. If certified milk is not available, buy pasteurized milk or pasteurize it yourself.

If you pasteurize it yourself start by buying "bottled" milk; the chain from cow to baby is long enough at best; and milk sold in any other way than bottled involves more changes of receptacles, and every change increases the danger of contamination. Select as many smooth round nursing bottles as you are giving feedings, in 24 hours. Clean them thoroughly when you get them and repeat immediately after each feeding by rinsing in clean water, soaking in soda, borax or soap water, scrubbing with a clean brush in warm soapy water, and rinsing in boiling water. Clean Thoroughly.

Get the same number of collapsible nipples, which cleanse after each feeding by scrubbing inside and out in warm soapy water. Boil them once a day. Never touch the part of the nipple that goes into the baby's mouth.

Now you are ready for pasteurizing—for home pasteurization should always be done in the feeding bottle. Mix the milk as directed by the doctor's "formula," and pour the prescribed amount into each bottle. Put the bottles into a wire basket, which put into a tin bucket filled with water. Let the level at which the milk stands in the bottles. Milk is pasteurized by heating it to 150 degrees Fahrenheit and holding it there for 30 minutes, but if you find this difficult you may gain the same effect by boiling the water in the tin bucket for five minutes, setting it aside for 10 minutes and then running in cold water until the milk reaches the temperature of the running water. Then put it into the ice chest, which should not be warmer than 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Make Ice Chest
If no ice chest is convenient a simple and effective one can be made from a grocery soap box 15 inches long. Make a cylinder of oil cloth or linoleum that will fit loosely about an earthenware crock tall enough to hold a quart bottle of milk or large enough to hold six or seven feeding bottles. Put crock and cylinder in the box and pack beneath and about them sawdust or excelsior. Tack newspapers to the cover of the box. When the milk comes, put the bottle in the pasteurized nursing bottles into the crock and pack them with cracked ice. Put on the crock cover and close the box tight. When feeding time comes take out a bottle, shake it gently, and warm it by placing in a pan of warm water.

All "bottled" babies, particularly all taking bottled or pasteurized milk must always be given orange juice or strained tomato juice if oranges are unobtainable. Begin with one teaspoonful mixed with an equal part of cold boiled water just before the morning bath and feeding. Increase gradually to two or three teaspoonsful by the time baby is a year old.

Boil Water
A new born baby needs very little food for a day or two. The first feeding should be one tablespoon of milk, two or three tablespoons of water, and no sugar. As a young baby cannot digest plain cow's milk it must be modified accordingly by adding such amounts of water, sugar, barley water, lime water, etc., as may be prescribed by the physician. This prescription or "formula" must be changed as the baby grows older.

The baby should lie down while feeding and the bottle should always be held. Do not urge him to drink more than he wants and never let him drink more than 20 minutes. Throw away any milk left in the bottle.

After feeding, hold baby up and pat him gently to bring up any gas or air. Then place him in bed, do not rock nor play with him. And do not let him suck on an empty bottle or a nipple.

Patent foods tend to make fat babies rather than strong babies; do not use them exclusively or continue only. Condensed milk lacks some of the necessary elements and is likely to cause indigestion and produce rickets if used continuously. When fresh cow's milk can not be had milk made of powdered whole milk containing 1 1/2 per cent of butter fat will be found a good substitute.

Hospital Romance Leads to Marriage

A romance in which a nurse of the Bismarck hospital and a badly wounded veteran of the World War took the leading roles culminated yesterday in the marriage of Miss Mabel Irene Penderay, daughter of Frederick Penderay, Senator and Thomas Penderay of Jamestown, and Frederick Hagel of Mound City, S. D. in Jamestown.

The bride, a graduate nurse from the Bismarck hospital in 1922, met her husband less than three years ago while he was under treatment at the hospital for wounds sustained while on the battle fields of France. To add to the romantic atmosphere of the situation Mr. Hagel was made a candidate for the office of county auditor in his home state by his friends without him knowing anything about it and was elected to office even though ill in a hospital in another state. Upon his recovery he returned home and assumed his position and was reelected to his office at the next election.

Mr. and Mrs. Hagel have left on a honeymoon trip through the Yellowstone Park and the Black Hills. They were expected to stop here enroute. When they return they will make their home in Mound City, S. D.

SUMMER CARE FOR BABY

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of a series of articles on summer care of babies, prepared especially for The Bismarck Tribune readers by the U. S. Public Health Service.

BOTTLE FEEDING
There is no such thing as cheap milk for children, particularly babies. Milk and all that concerns it is more important to the baby than anything else put together. The best milk is mother's milk; and the best substitute, when mother's milk cannot be had, is certified cow's milk. If certified milk is not available, buy pasteurized milk—or pasteurize it yourself.

If you pasteurize it yourself start by buying "bottled" milk; the change from cow to baby is long enough at best; and milk sold in any other way than bottled involves more changes of receptacles and every change increases the danger of contamination. Select as many smooth round nursing bottles as you are giving feedings in 24 hours. Clean them thoroughly when you get them and repeat immediately after each feeding by rinsing in clear water, soaking in soda, borax or soap water, scrubbing with a clean brush in warm, soapy suds and rinsing in boiling water.

Clean Thoroughly
Get the same number of collapsible nipples, which cleanse after each feeding by scrubbing inside and out in warm soapy water. Boil them once a day. Never touch the part of the nipple that goes into the baby's mouth.

Now you are ready for pasteurizing for home pasteurization should always be done in the feeding bottle. Mix the milk as directed by the doctor's "formula," and pour the prescribed amount into each bottle. Put the bottles into a wire basket, which put into a tin bucket filled with water a little above the level at which the milk stands in the bottles. Milk

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1878)

NEW YORK'S "WET" VICTORY
Governor Smith's signature to the measure repealing New York's prohibition enforcement act is rather an empty victory for the wets. The significance of Gov. Smith's action was well outlined in his statement or memorandum that went with the signing of the Mullan-Gage act.
Of course the Volstead act is still operative in New York and each and every law officer is under oath to enforce that measure whether he belongs to the state or the federal regime. The chief significance of the whole official act is to place the trial of offenders against the Volstead Act in the federal rather than in state courts. It removes the possibility of a man being tried or punished twice for the same offense.

Governor Smith in his statement declared against the saloon and urged especially upon every official to cooperate with federal authorities and upon their own initiative to see that the federal law, which of course is the law of every state too, is rigidly enforced.
It would seem that the wets are placing too much significance upon the signing of the repeal measure. New York cannot now manufacture or distribute beer and light wines any more than before the law was passed repealing the state's dry act.

What the prohibitionists fear, however, is that the refusal of New York's chief executive to countenance a special state dry act, will mean lax enforcement on the part of the state officials, a tendency to shift the burden to federal officers in the absence of any specific state laws on the enforcement of prohibition.

Enthusiastic wets even now are heralding Gov. Smith as the outstanding pro-liquor candidate for president. The forces who urge the return of beer and light wine think other states will in due time follow New York's action and see in this trend of legislation a protest against the stringency of the federal dry act.

This may be the general reaction to New York's move but the immediate effect in the Empire state will be to put the chief expense of the enforcement upon the treasury department and the burden of litigation will be in the federal rather than state courts. Also there will be a tendency on the part of the federal authorities to strengthen their dry enforcement organization in New York.

THE RIGHT ACTION
The county commissioners, it is to be hoped, will agree with the representatives of the Burleigh County Farm Bureau and J. W. Haw, county agent leader, and name a county agent for Burleigh county. The commissioners are, of course, mindful of expense and are charged with exercising their own discretion, but with such a vote as was registered for a county agent last fall there ought not to be any hesitation in appointing one. As Mr. Haw pointed out the vote of 3 to 1 for the agent was about the same proportion both in the city of Bismarck as outside. The farmers' majority was for the agent.

The commissioners took a step in the right direction in deciding to advertise for bids for county printing and supplies. All Burleigh county firms will now have an opportunity to bid on the work, most of which has gone outside of the county in the past without any good reason. The action favors no individual except the taxpayer, for it is his guarantee that there will be economical expenditures of county funds.

The commissioners also decided to advertise for bids for bonds which may be sold, although in view of the decision in the taxpayers' suit they were not obliged to do so. Burleigh county's credit is good and her bonds ought to sell well. Even if a more advantageous deal could be made without bids, it is as a general rule advisable from the standpoint of public officials and the public to act upon bids which give all bidders an equal opportunity.

EXPLOSIONS
Nearly 432 million pounds of explosives were sold in our country during 1922, the Bureau of Mines announces. For industrial uses, such as coal mining.
We imprison, transport and release a stupendous power in the commercial use of explosives, a power that combined is almost beyond the imagination.
And yet we are unable to control the explosive, human emotion. So we have war, poverty, misery, broken hearts. Man has less control over himself than he has over anything else in life—even the climate and weather.

CHINESE
The Chinese are taxed tighter than any other people, says F. R. Eldridge, one of Uncle Sam's Far Eastern experts. The average Chinese pays only 60 cents a year taxes, in our money, which compares with $60 a head in our country for national taxation alone. Still, day labor in China gets only 15 cents a day. Figure it out on a work or labor basis, and the Chinese are not so far behind us.
They have one real advantage, though. Their total foreign and domestic debt is only 900 million dollars or $2.25 a head. Ours must be several hundred times as much.

COAL
Enough coal still underground in our country to last us 6033 years at the rate we're using it up now, says R. Z. Virgin, editor of the Coal Trade Review. That's not counting Alaska, which has enough unmined coal to supply the states west of the Rockies for 1000 years.
In the face of this enormous supply, we have periodical coal shortages, a ridiculous paradox that can be partly eliminated if householders this summer will buy their coal supply for next winter. Summer prices may save you considerable money, far more than compound interest on the investment.

From the land of North Dakota where the dark Missouri flows,
And in summer miles of wheat fields
wealth and happiness disclose,
Came the youthful Martin Tabert, led by wanderlust to roam
To the far away savannas of the southland, and a home
Sought he, where the snows and blizzards
of the northland ne'er were seen;
But instead, a land of flowers, clad in bright perpetual green—
Land the tourist seeks in winter, and where birds that migrate come
To escape the cold of winter in their snow-clad northern home.
Here came Martin, whose ambition
was to gain a livelihood
With his hands inured to labor wheree'er he with honor could

Florida had naught to offer, though he sought work everywhere;
Misadventure hard pursued him till at length 'twas his to share
Convict labor, though no crime had he committed anywhere.
But for self by grasping "boss-guard" was he sent dross to bear.

Bleeding feet and dire exposure suffered he, too weak to keep Abreast of what the "boss" demanded in a ditch with mud knee deep.
Then, for failure, was he beaten in a fiendish, shameful way,
Past all reason left he swooned, and
God in love took him away
Away from fiendish, brutal torture,
and from friends who loved him well,
But who knew not of his suffering—
Gone alone their pain could tell!
Took him to himself, he loved him,
like the prisoner long ago,
Who to Paradise, the blessed, with the Christ did meekly go.

Prisoner Comrades, hail the triumph which to you the state has brought
Moved by Martin's death to action
'gainst an evil else unthought!
Go "forever!" is its mandate! penance and the lash must go!
And the New York World, promoter of the change with heart and song,
Cherish for its brave contention—right must triumph over wrong.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HIS FRIEND, SYDNEY CARTON.

DEAR SYD:
You are a friend, I'll tell the world. I didn't care what you called me after I saw the check. It made quite a substantial payment on my stock. In fact, the dividend was much more than I expected, consequently I was able to give the firm the check for the full amount due from me.

Same way, Syd, I don't seem to realize yet, when I am away from Leslie, that I am married at all. I expect I shouldn't let a fascinating dancer fill my eye when I pass her on the street. I know I would be jealous as the devil of Leslie if I thought she were smiling at any man, young or old.

Habits are stronger than martial ethics, however, and I have a great sympathy for that old fellow who said "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

Then I am worried, I must own it, Syd, I am terribly worried over Paula Perrier. I don't mind telling you that those letters are rather compromising and lately she has been acting very queerly.

I wonder what Leslie would do if Paula should send them to her. (She laughingly promised to do so the other night if I neglected her.)

Sometimes a man ready to make a clean breast of it to my wife, I really should have done so the other night when Leslie, apropos to something we were talking about, said that she did not think either a husband or wife had any business with the other's past; all one could ask of the other was that the present and future be his or hers in like devotion, loyalty and trust.

I really should have told her then, but that very day that assinine florist had sent his bill to the house instead of my office and on it was the sixteen dollars he had stung me for a basket of flowers. I had sent it to Paula when she had written me a sad little letter, saying she was sick and for me to call upon her.

It seemed to me at that time that sixteen dollars was very little to pay for the privilege of staying away from her, but the notation that Leslie had put on the bottom of the bill was, "The florist must have made a mistake. I have not received a basket of flowers." This put an entirely different complexion on the fool gift.

You could see, old scout, how much chaffee I would have had, after she had seen that bill, of making Leslie believe that I cared nothing more for Paula now when I told her of the tender passages between us before marriage and she had proof that I was still interested to the value of sixteen dollars.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

was most important that the Twins should not be delayed, for they were off to hunt for Nancy's rag doll.

Ruby Joan was her name and either she had run away or been kidnapped or gone visiting or got lost or something else terrible had happened to her, for she wasn't in the play room or anywhere in the house.

The Fairy Queen, learning of the trouble, had promised to help, so she gave the Twins free tickets on Mister Toots' train and told them to look in every town in Choo-Choo Land.

Rp! Rp! Rp! went the whistle. Toot! Toot! Toot! it went still louder.

The wheels turned, the trees began to fly by, the whole world seemed in a whirl.

The Choo-Choo Land Express was rushing along so fast it almost took the Twins' breath away.

Mister Tunch, the conductor, came through for tickets and it was all he could do to keep his balance.

Suddenly the train slowed up and Mister Punch called out: "Jack Town. Ten minutes for lunch."

RESTRAIN FUND SPENDING

Jameson, N. D., June 7.—An order restraining the state law library, clerk of supreme court, state auditor and treasurer from issuing warrants on State Bar Board funds for repairs or purchase of books for the state law library, was issued on petition of John Knauft, Jamestown, in behalf of the State Bar Board. Hearing on the matter will be on June 18 in Bismarck.

In a sparrow's nest examined recently were found, among other things, an old railway ticket, a safety pin, half a cigarette, a small buckle, the finger of a kid glove and nearly half a yard of bandage.

MAGNIFICENT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Colvin Gray comes to Dallas, bearer of Colonel Henry Nelson, banker. Gray threatens to break Nelson financially because of an enemy existing between the two men. Gas Briskow strikes oil and asks Gray to help the family tide over the rough spots. Allie, the daughter, is in love with Gray. Bud, the son, runs away from school. Gray follows to bring Bud home and finds the boy in the hands of an adventurer. Bud presents interference and Gray and he fight until Bud is knocked unconscious. Gray and an associate, Mallow, bring the son of the adventurer to Bud's hotel.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
The youngster, a boy of indeterminate age, advanced and shook hands. There was no mistaking him; he was Margie Fulton's son in disguise, in coloring, in features. "I told Bessie you could use a bright kid about his age. And he's bright." It required no clever analysis of the lad to convince Gray that he was indeed bright, as bright—and as hard—as a silver dollar. He had a likable face, or it would have been likable had it been in repose. It was twitching now and Gray said, with a smile: "Go ahead and laugh son."

The urchin's lips parted in a wide grin, and he spoke for the first time. "Did the Germans do that?" The effect of his voice was startling for it was deep and husky; it was the older man's turn to be astonished. "He could pass for fifteen on the street," Mallow said, "but when he talks, I chalk him down for thirty-five. How old are you Ben?"

"Seventeen. What's the big idea, anyhow?" The question was directed impudently at the occupant of the divan. "Did you send all the way to Hot Springs to get a guy you can lick?"

"Your mother is here in Dallas, my boy."

"Yeah?" There was a pause. "How's it breaking for her?"

"Um-m, very well. I thought she'd like to see you."

Bessie cocked his head, he eyed the speaker curiously, suspiciously. "Come clean," he rumbled. "Mallow said you could use me."

"I can, I will."

The boy shrugged. "All right, Sharkey. I s'pose it'll come out, in time. Only remember, I've got twenty coming, win or lose."

"Of course," Gray waved toward the dresser upon which was a handful of bills. "Help yourself. Better make it twenty-five. Then wait outside, please. We will join you in a few minutes."

"And don't make it thirty, Bessie's traveling companion sharply cautioned."

When the door had closed, Gray gave his friend certain instructions, after which he limped to the telephone and called Arline Montague.

"May I ask you to step down to Buddy's room?" he inquired, after making himself known. "Oh, it will be quite all right. We three must have a little talk. But he couldn't see you last night. He was quite ill, really; I sat up with him most of the night. There was a longer hintus in Buddy's presence? Thank you. In five minutes, then."

When Ozark Briskow answered Gray's request for admittance, he was deeply embarrassed to find Miss Montague also waiting; his stammered protest was interrupted by her sharp inquiry:

"What is the meaning of all this mystery? He said you were too sick to see me."

"Permit me to explain," Gray began as he closed the door behind him. "Buddy and I came to blows over you; you were, in a manner of speaking, an apple of discord between us, and the melancholy results you behold. Jealousy of your charms was not my motive; I merely asked Buddy to defer a contemplated action! He refused; I insisted. Arguments failed to budge either of us and—"

The young woman's sympathetic regard of Gray's victim changed to a glare of hostility as she turned upon the speaker, crying: "You brute! You ought to be arrested!"

LOCAL CLUB NOT SAME, SAYS UMPIRE KLEVA

Says That Different Article of Ball Was Played at Jamestown

An umpire doesn't often offer an opinion on a baseball club. But the Bismarck baseball club is such a different aggregation from what it was when the Minot series was played here that Umpire Tony Kleva, back to umpire the New Rockford-Carrington-Bismarck series, could not help but speak of it.

The local club played great ball in the Jamestown series. Mr. Kleva said. John Reider, center fielder, who was injured, was particularly praised. Reider, he said, made one of the greatest catches he had ever seen in minor league baseball, with two out and two on bases, when he scooped up a liner in center in the grass, and although he tumbled over he kept his hands up with the ball so that there could be no doubt in the mind of the umpire that he caught it.

The Bismarck club as a whole was a different club from that which started the season, he said.

Kleva was scheduled to umpire the Minot-Jamestown series opening in Jamestown today, but was transferred to Bismarck by President Powell.

E. W. Murphy, who traveled to Jamestown with the Bismarck club, found something to feel good about besides the winning of games. He naturally expected a bunch of red-blooded athletes wouldn't sit around like lambs all of the time. The manager of the Gladstone hotel, however, on the club's leaving told Mr. Murphy that he had never had an clean and gentlemanly bunch of ball players stop there as the Bismarck club.

The local club had a lot of fun at the prison last evening, playing the prison nine in a practice game. The players changed positions frequently and made a festival out of the game. The score was 25 to 22 in favor of Bismarck.

The five-game series with New Rockford-Carrington is on tonight. Games ended at 6:15 Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday, and 3 P. M. Sunday.

L. W. Upshaw, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Jamestown and well known football and basketball coach and referee, is the league secretary. He expects to compile averages for publication soon.

Th Minot Daily News has kind words for Ramage, the new "Twins" shortstop, who appeared for the first time there. He played sensational ball in the field and hit hard, the report says.

VETERAN PITCHER MAKES BIG START

George Dauss of Detroit Finally Gets Breaks He Deserves

GEORGE DAUSS

By Billy Evans
Is Dame Fortune about to smile on George Dauss late in his pitching career?

George Dauss for years has been a member of the Detroit staff of the American League. His pitching efforts have met with varying success. Never has he quite reached the heights of stardom.

I have always regarded Dauss as one of the best pitchers in the American League. Perhaps no man connected with the game is in a better position to judge the worth of a pitcher than the umpire. Likewise no one is better fitted to make comparisons.

To me George Dauss has always been a great pitcher. In baseball one is always judged on results. In the record book for a pitcher to attain the realms of stardom he must be a consistent winner. Dauss has never been a consistent pitcher.

Batters Fear Dauss
Another way to get a line on a pitcher's effectiveness is to get the opinion of the opposing batters. American League players will tell you that Dauss has as much stuff as any pitcher in the league and a much better curve ball than a majority. In addition most of them will tell you that they do not like to hit against Dauss.

That admission in itself is the best line one could possibly get on a pitcher. When opposing batters admit his style of delivery is such that they do not like facing him, immediately the pitcher secures a decided advantage.

There you have the status of George Dauss. With little or no batting motion his ball is on the batter quickly. This has a tendency to throw the batsman off his stride.

SHELBY ARENA IS RUSHED BY MANY WORKMEN

Covers 33 Acres, 32,000 Entrances Each to Handle 2,500 People

Shelby, Mont., June 7.—Work on the Dempsey-Gibbons fight arena is being rushed. The contract calls for its completion by June 20th. The job could be finished much sooner if needed.

With the framework all up and the floor laid something of its size and details now gives the curious sight-seer a picture to gaze at. Nothing was ever built in Montana or west of the Mississippi River like it.

It is 1,710 feet around the eight-sided wooden bowl.
A diagonal across it at the widest place in 558 feet.

There will be 32 entrances. The gates are so arranged that no one of them will have to handle more than 2,500 people.

All the leading for the huge octagon will be either by steps or inclines.
The gate number is stamped on each ticket. No one can get in the wrong aisle.

Tickets will have a triple check on them. Federal men will check them at the outer gate; aisle ushers will check them at the next gate and the section ushers take the last one.

The arena covers six acres. A high board fence encloses around the bowl will take in THIRTY-THREE ACRES.
A new atmospheric angle has been developed in this Montana cow country.

The dope is that Shelby, with an elevation of over 3,000 feet and miles from any factories which produce smoke, has the clearest air to see through of any spot in the world.

It is said that a customer sitting in a general admission seat in the Shelby bowl can see as good as a ringside-sitter in the Jersey City bowl.

Whether this is true or not is a question for a scientist to answer. It is true that the rarefied air in this section of the prairies is like crystal

WHITE SOX IN HARD ATTACK UPON YANKEES

Frighten Them in First Game and Take the Second of Series

Chicago, June 7.—From the evidence shown in their toughest assignment so far this season it appears that Chicago White Sox have been kidding themselves by remaining in the American League cellar.
Day before yesterday the Sox made their eastern 1923 debut by frightening the New York Yankees into totalling 10 innings to win one run and yesterday they took advantage of their impression and upset the league leaders, 4 to 1. The result was costly to the Yankees as Philadelphia defeated St. Louis, 5 to 2.

It was a triumphant day for Urban "Red" Faber who held the Yanks to five hits and struck out seven. "Red" who came into the major league nearly 10 years ago, made the first home run of his career when he drove the ball into the bleachers.

Four lightning fast double plays featured speedy work of the Athletics' support of "Slim" Harris. The Athletics needed to win as Cleveland also won and gained a point in the race for second place, only two points separating them today. Four Boston pitchers yielded sixteen hits. The score was 17 to 4.

Walter Johnson was in rare form and Washington evened the series with Detroit, 5 to 1, and the Senators moved toward leadership of the second division.

The western teams of the National League, all playing at home, made a clean sweep, Brooklyn losing to Pittsburgh, 7 to 3. The victory gave the Pirates a clear hold on second place.

The contest at Chicago was featured by Umpire Moran reversing his decision on a disputed play and the New York Giants losing 6 to 1 their only tally coming from a home run by Catcher Frank Snyder.

Both St. Louis and Cincinnati triumphed the former being extended to 12 innings by Philadelphia in the first game of their series and the latter making it two straight from Boston with a score of 5 to 1.

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT AGAIN IN SETBACK

Chicago, June 7.—Advances which took place at the opening of the wheat market today were soon more than wiped out by speculative selling. The temporary gains were all for a drop all around the wheat market. Buying, however, lacked volume and the market quickly underwent a setback. Initial quotations which ranged from one-eighth to five-eighths cent higher were followed by a drop all around to well below yesterday's finish.

Subsequently rallies failed to hold well. Weakness of corn was a bearish factor. Wheat closed unsettled the same as yesterday's finish to one-half cent lower.

BANKERS CAUTION AGAINST INFLATION

By J. H. PUELICHER
President the American Bankers Association

A recent meeting of the Executive Council of the American Bankers Association, attended as it was by representative bankers from every state in the Union, afforded an excellent opportunity to get a composite view of the business situation in the nation as a whole.

Representatives of agriculture were present at the meeting. They made it clear that the upward trend of affairs in business had not yet reached the farmer and that his position of having to pay a relatively larger price for what he purchases as compared with that received for what he sells should be given the most thoughtful consideration.

There were also present men fresh from observing and studying conditions in Europe. While they lent encouragement to the belief that European affairs are slowly but surely righting themselves, there is in the feeling generally expressed by American bankers a distinct note of caution.

Questions of the Hour
One hears the questions every where asked: "Are we going to permit American affairs to ride again into a situation of extreme inflation, which will, as we all know, be followed by another period of depression? Had we not better keep business as normal as possible by not going too rapidly? Should not the banker be sounding a note of warning to business men generally to keep their affairs well in hand?"

The charts indicating the trend of business show that we are approaching the high point which will signal the conservative business man that expansion must be definitely controlled and that reasonable conservatism should be the order of the day.

To many this may appear the pessimism of the banker, but let me say that the banker is in a position to keep his finger on the pulse of our economic situation, and when there is such a consensus on the part of many bankers that we are passing the safety point and that we are riding into another period of inflation such opinion should not be looked upon as pessimism, but rather as the advice of those whose business can prosper only as there is general prosperity.

The banking situation in America is sound and can only be harmed by undue credit expansion. The banker should see that expansion does not again gain the headway that led us into trouble before, and the business man should do every thing possible to support the banker, thus avoiding another period of costly deflation.

RELATIVE OF BIRD WOMAN TELLS STORY

Disputes History in Connection with Lewis and Clark Expedition

Van Hook, N. D., June 7.—A bit of history in connection with the Lewis and Clark expedition to the Pacific coast in the beginning of the eighteenth century, especially with regard to the Bird Woman, who led the expedition through to the coast, is being persistently disputed here by Bulls Eyes, a Grosventre Indian, living at Shell Village on the Berthold reservation, who claims to be a direct descendant from this historic Indian woman.

The story as related by Bulls Eyes, which he claims to be the truth, having been handed down from his grandmother, who was a daughter of the Bird Woman, is in substance as follows:

Bird Woman was a Grosventre Indian woman and not a Shoshone as history records. Together with her husband, a Frenchman by the name of Charbeneau, their little son, they lived in Montana. Together too they had discovered a trail leading to Oregon on the Pacific coast some time before Lewis and Clark came through. They followed this trail and ultimately arrived at the Great Water. Mr. Charbeneau, says Bulls Eyes, was a surveyor, which made it easy for him to find and blaze the way so that it could be recalled in the future should occasion require. They remained at a trading post in Oregon about two years when they returned to a place called Sand Point, Montana, where they spent the winter of 1806-7. By this time the little boy had died and there had been an addition of three girls to the family. The second of these daughters was Bulls Eyes' grandmother, according to his own statement.

The Lewis and Clark expedition happened there that winter and camped there until spring. When it came time to resume the journey west, the expedition then secured the services of Bird Woman to guide them through on the trail which she and her husband had gone over before. They returned via the Missouri river in flat boats.

The story thus related is vouched for by Bulls Eyes, who states that his grandmother, whose name was Cedar Woman, second daughter of Bird Woman, has told it repeatedly to her children and grand children. Cedar Woman lived to be over 100 years of age.

SPORTS
LOCAL CLUB
NOT SAME, SAYS
UMPIRE KLEVA

Says That Different Article of Ball Was Played at Jamestown

An umpire does not often offer an opinion on a baseball club. But the Bismarck baseball club is such a different aggregation from what it was when the Minot series was played here that Umpire Tony Kleva, back to umpire the New Rockford-Carrington Bismarck series, could not help but speak of it.

The local club played great ball in the Jamestown series. Mr. Kleva said. John Roder, center-fielder, who was injured, was particularly praised. Roder, he said, made one of the greatest catches he had ever seen in minor league baseball, with two out and two on bases, when he scooped up a liner in center in the grass, and although he tumbled over he kept his hands up with the ball so that there could be no doubt in the mind of the umpire that he caught it.

The Bismarck club as a whole was a different club from that which started the season, he said.

Kleva was scheduled to umpire the Minot-Jamestown series opening in Jamestown today, but was transferred to Bismarck by President Powell.

F. W. Murphy, who traveled to Jamestown with the Bismarck club, found something to feel good about. He, the winning of games. He naturally expected a bunch of red-blooded athletes wouldn't sit around like lambs all of the time. The manager of the Gladstone hotel, however, on the club's leaving told Mr. Murphy that he had never had a team on and a pretty much bunch of ball players, top there as the Bismarck club.

The local club had a lot of fun at the picnic at evening, playing the prison line in a practice game. The players changed positions frequently and made a festival out of the game. The score was 25 to 22 in favor of Bismarck.

The five game series with New Rockford-Carrington is on tonight. Game called at 6:15 Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday, and 3 P. M. Sunday.

L. W. Uphaw, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Jamestown and well known football and basketball coach and referee, is the league secretary. He expects to compile averages for publication soon.

Th Minot Daily News has kind words for Bismarck, the new "Twins" outfit, who appeared for the first time there. He played sensational ball in the field and hit hard, the report says.

VETERAN PITCHER MAKES BIG START
George Dauss of Detroit Finally Gets Breaks
He Deserves

GEORGE DAUSS

By Billy Evans
DAME FORTUNE about to smile on George Dauss late in his pitching career.

George Dauss, for years has been a member of the Detroit staff of the American League. His pitching efforts have met with varying success. Never has he quite reached the heights of stardom.

I have always regarded Dauss as one of the best pitchers in the American League. Perhaps no man connected with the game is in a better position to judge the worth of a pitcher than the umpire. Likewise no one is better fitted to make comparisons.

To me George Dauss has always been a great pitcher. In baseball one is always judged on results. In the record book for a pitcher to attain the realms of stardom he must be a consistent winner. Dauss has never been a consistent pitcher.

Another way to get a line on a pitcher's effectiveness is to get the opinion of the opposing batters. American League players will tell you that Dauss has a much stuff as any pitcher in the league and a much better curve ball than a majority of the batters. In addition most of them will tell you that they do not like to hit against Dauss.

That admission in itself is the best line one could possibly get on a pitcher. When opposing batters admit his style of delivery is such they do not relish facing him, immediately the pitcher secures a decided advantage.

There you have the status of George Dauss. With little or no pitching motion his ball is on the batter quickly. This has a tendency to throw the batsman off his stride.

SHELBY ARENA IS RUSHED BY MANY WORKMEN

Covers 33 Acres, 32,000 Entrances Each to Handle
2,500 People

Shelby, Mont., June 7.—Work on the Dempsey-Gibbons fight arena is being rushed. The contract calls for its completion by June 20th. The job could be finished much sooner if needed.

With the framework all up and the floor laid something of its size and details now gives the curious sight—seeing public a picture to gaze at. Nothing was ever built in Montana or west of the Mississippi River like it.

It is 1,710 feet around the eight-sided wooden bowl.

A diagonal across it at the widest place is 508 feet.

There will be 32 entrances. The gates are so arranged that no one of them will have to handle more than 2,500 people.

All the leading for the huge octagon will be either by steps or inclines.

The gate number is stamped on each ticket. No one can get in the wrong aisle.

Tickets will have a triple check on them. Federal men will check them at the outer gate; aisle ushers will check them at the next gate and the section ushers take the last one. The arena covers six acres. A high board fence enclosure around the bowl will take in THIRTY-THREE ACRES.

A new atmospheric angle has developed out in this Montana cow country.

The dome is over 3,000 feet and miles from any factories which produce smoke, has the clearest air to see through of any spot in the world.

It is said that a customer sitting in a general admission seat in the Shelby bowl can see as good as a ring-side-sitter in the Jersey City bowl.

Whether this is true or not is a question for a scientist to answer. It is true that the rarefied air in this section of the prairie is like crystal

WHITE SOX IN HARD ATTACK
UPON YANKEES

Frighten Them in First Game and Take the Second of Series

Chicago, June 7.—From the evidence shown in their toughest assignment so far this season it appears that Chicago White Sox have been kidding themselves by remaining in the American League cellar.

Day before yesterday the Sox made their eastern 1923 debut by frightening the New York Yankees into totalling 10 innings to win one run and yesterday they took advantage of their impression and upset the league leaders, 4 to 1. The result was costly to the Yankees as Philadelphia defeated the Yankees 5 to 2. It was a triumphant day for Urban "Red" Faber who held the Yanks to five hits and struck out seven. "Red" who came into the major league nearly 10 years ago, made the first home run of his career when he drove the ball into the bleachers.

Four lightning fast double plays featured speedy work of the Athletics' support of "Slim" Harris. The Athletics needed to win as Cleveland also won and gained a point in the race for second place, only two points separating them today. Four Boston pitchers yielded sixteen hits. The score was 17 to 4.

Walter Johnson was in rare form and Washington evened the series with Detroit, 5 to 1, and the Senators moved toward leadership of the second division.

The western teams of the National League, all playing at home, made a clean sweep, Brooklyn losing to Pittsburgh, 7 to 3. The victory gave the Pirates a clear hold on second place.

The contest at Chicago was featured by Umpire Moran reversing his decision on a disputed play and the New York Giants losing 6 to 1 their only tally coming from a home run by Catcher Frank Snyder.

Both St. Louis and Cincinnati triumphed the former being extended to 12 innings by Philadelphia in the first game of their series and the latter making it two straight from Boston with a score of 5 to 1.

BANKERS CAUTION AGAINST INFLATION

By J. H. PUELLICHER
President of the American Bankers Association

A recent meeting of the Executive Council of the American Bankers Association, attended as it was by representatives of banks from every state in the Union, afforded an excellent opportunity to get a composite view of the business situation in the nation as a whole.

Representatives of agriculture were present at the meeting. They made it clear that the upward trend of affairs in business had not yet reached the farmer and that his position of having to pay a relatively larger price for what he purchases as compared with that received for what he sells should be given the most thoughtful consideration.

There were also present men fresh from observing and studying conditions in Europe. While they lent encouragement to the belief that European affairs are slowly but surely righting themselves, there is in the feeling generally expressed by American bankers a distinct note of caution.

Questions of the Hour

One hears the questions everywhere asked: "Are we going to permit American affairs to ride again into a situation of extreme inflation, which will, as we all know, be followed by another period of depression? Had we not better keep business on a normal keel by not going too rapidly? Should not the banker be sounding a note of warning to business men generally to keep their affairs well in hand?"

The charts indicating the trend of business show that we are approaching the high point which followed the war. This should be the signal to the conservative business man that expansion must be definitely controlled and that reasonable conservatism should be the order of the day.

To many this may appear the pessimism of the banker, but let me say that the banker is in a position to keep his finger on the pulse of our economic situation, and when there is such a consensus on the part of many bankers that we are passing the safety point and that we are riding into another period of inflation such opinion should not be looked upon as pessimism, but rather as the advice of those whose business can prosper only as there is general prosperity. Sound and can only be harmed by undue credit expansion. The banker should see that expansion does not again gain the headway that led us into trouble before, and the business man should do everything possible to support the banker, thus avoiding another period of costly deflation.

RELATIVE OF
BIRD WOMAN
TELLS STORY

Disputes History in Connection with Lewis and Clark Expedition

Van Hook, N. D., June 7.—A bit of history in connection with the Lewis and Clark expedition to the Pacific coast in the beginning of the eighteenth century, especially with regard to the Bird Woman, who led the expedition through to the coast, is being persistently disputed here by Bulls Eyes, a Grosventre Indian, living at Shell Village on the Berthold reservation, who claims to be a direct descendant from this historic Indian woman.

The story as related by Bulls Eyes, which he claims to be the truth, having been handed down from his grandmother, who was a daughter of the Bird Woman, is in substance as follows:

Bird Woman was a Grosventre Indian woman and not a Shoshone as history records. Together with her husband, a Frenchman by the name of Charbonneau, their little son, they lived in Montana. Together too they had discovered a trail leading to Oregon on the Pacific coast some time before Lewis and Clark came through. They followed this trail and ultimately arrived at the Great Water. Mr. Charbonneau, says Bulls Eyes, was a surveyor, which made it easy for him to find and blaze the way so that it could be recalled in the future should occasion require. They remained at a trading post in Oregon about two years, when they returned to a place called Sand Point, Montana, where they spent the winter of 1805-7. By this time the little boy had died and there had been an addition of three girls to the family. The second of these daughters was Bulls Eyes' grandmother, according to his own statement.

The Lewis and Clark expedition happened there that winter and camped there until spring. When it came time to resume the journey west, the expedition then secured the services of Bird Woman to guide them through on the trail which she and her husband had gone over before. They returned via the Missouri river in flat boats.

The story thus related is vouched for by Bulls Eyes, who states that his grandmother, whose name was Cedar Woman, was told it repeatedly to her children and grand children. Cedar Woman lived to be over 100 years of age.

INDIAN WITH STOLEN HORSE
BEING SOUGHT

Starts From Sioux County and May Now Be in Northern Burleigh Co.

James Fields, an Indian, started out from Sioux county with a stolen horse and has been cutting a wide swath since.

Fields, according to information here, is alleged to have participated with another in stealing two horses in Sioux county. The Indian then visited the farm of Senator Martin in Morton county and stole a saddle and his equipment. Crossing the state line he went into northern Burleigh county and ransacked the house of Simon Gounrue and Mr. Seby and is said to have added guns to his equipment. Sheriff Hedstrom and Deputy Sheriff Phelps of Bismarck are looking for him, ran close to him Tuesday night. He turned his horse across ploughed fields, and the officers who were in an automobile at disadvantage, and disappeared in the hills. Last night Sheriff Hedstrom and Deputy Kafer were in the northern part of the county.

Fields is reported hiding in the hills below Washburn.

STILL SEEDING FLAX IN SOME PLACES IN N. D.

Crops Generally Are Reported
Satisfactory Through Northwest

The weekly crop report of the Van Dusen Harrington Co., grain merchants, Minneapolis, as of June 6, follows:

"As usual at this time of the year the crops of the Northwest are in that period of development when they present a fine appearance. General conditions recently have been good and in spite of some delay occasioned by earlier cold and wet weather small grain and corn have made rapid growth.

"During the past week it has been quite warm and sufficient moisture is reported from most districts. There are a few local dry spots in South Dakota, but nothing is suffering up to this time. North Dakota and Eastern Montana, have had heavy rains over a large part of their territory.

"Spring wheat, oats and barley continue to show a generally satisfactory condition. Reports, however, indicate that some fields in North Dakota and Northern South Dakota, are very weedy and others show a rank growth of wild oats.

"Our correspondents in the Judith Basin still advise a very promising prospect for Winter Wheat in that district but other sections of Montana report conditions as from fair to good. Grasshoppers are appearing in alarming numbers in the North Central part of the state.

"Farmers are still seeding flax on new and old ground in North Dakota and Montana, and it is now believed the flax acreage will be the largest for several years. Early sown flax appears to have made a good start except in a few instances where it has been affected by frost.

"Farmers are cultivating corn for the first time in South Dakota and Minnesota, and our reports are very favorable as to stand and general condition. A large acreage has been planted in North Dakota and Montana. We have a few advices as to damage done by cut worms, but the recent hot weather has put an end to their activities.

"The winter rye crop shows no improvement. Information from practically all important rye districts indicates that it is very thin on the ground, is heading out short and is generally very disappointing in its development.

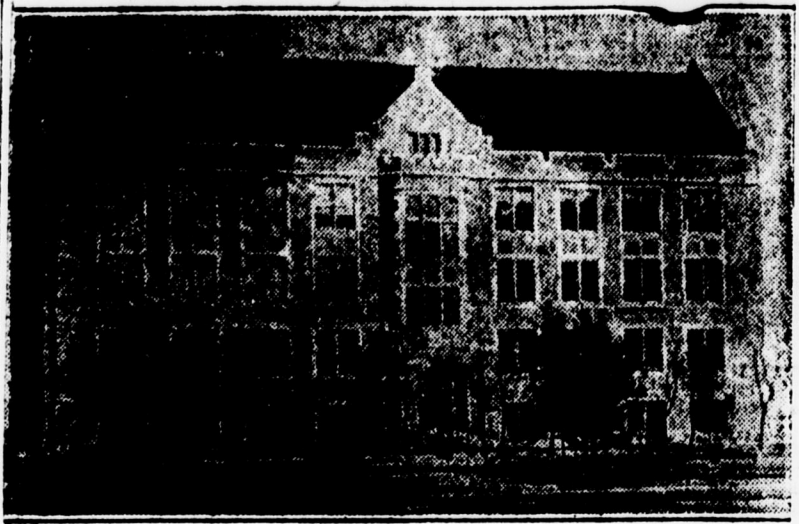

"Aside from the unfortunate condition of winter rye we consider the general crop situation as very promising at the present time."

JAMESTOWN MEN WINNERS IN TRAP SHOOT

Jamestown, N. D., June 7.—Fargo trap shooters failed to make any impressive records in the shooting of yesterday in the state tournament now under progress here. They are way down the list and are not considered contenders for the honors.

But one event was completed yesterday and that was the state handicapped singles tournament won by "Cap" Saunders of Minot. Saunders broke 95 out of 100 targets. Charlie

NEW LAW BUILDING SOON TO BE OCCUPIED AT STATE UNIVERSITY

(By Chas. G. Burke)

Grand Forks, N. D., June 7.—The new Law School building at the University of North Dakota is finished, according to Chas. L. Ellis, superintendent of grounds and buildings at that institution. Work on the structure has ceased, with the exception of the cleaning up, said Mr. Ellis, and only the lack of equipment such as chairs and tables prohibits the full use of the building for the remainder of the year.

Students in Law will, however, hold their classes in the building from now to the end of the school year. The Law building was made possible through an appropriation by the state legislature of 1921, of $150,000. Original plans called for the completion of the building before the first of February 1923, but the railroad tie-up of last summer held up so much of the required building material that it was late in the fall before the outside work was far enough advanced so that work on the interior of the building could be begun and by this time the severe cold of the past winter had set in and the work was tied up again.

Gothic in design, four stories in height, the Law building harmonizes with many of the buildings already on the campus, making a valuable and beautiful addition.

The building houses eleven classrooms, a large lecture room, fifteen office rooms, and the law library. When complete equipment arrives, according to Mr. Ellis, the Geology, Sociology and Commercial departments will be housed in the new building.

With the completion of the Law Building there are now eighteen large buildings on the university campus. Of these 18 buildings ten are used for class and office rooms.

Boardman was second with a score of 91 out of 100.

Fred Chezik of Portal is leading the first half of the state singles championship with a score of 97 out of 100.

Contestants in the double target event will start shooting in the morning.

SLAYER OF 33 IS SENTENCED

Moscow, June 7.—Vasili Komaroff, convicted of murder of 33 persons and his wife as his accomplice, were sentenced today to be shot within 72 hours. Neither betrayed any emotion as the sentence was passed but there was loud applause from the crowd in the courtroom and cries that the sentence should be carried into effect immediately instead of waiting 72 hours.

Contestants in the double target event will start shooting in the morning.

WILL BUILD I. O. O. F. HOME

Decision Is Reached in Grand Lodge Meeting at Minot

Minot, N. D., June 7.—The North Dakota grand lodge I. O. O. F. and State Rebekah Assembly, meeting in joint session late yesterday, unanimously voted to proceed with building of a new state home on a site already purchased at Devils Lake. The estimated cost is $80,000. There is now about $71,000 in the building fund and the pledges yesterday assured enough funds to provide completion.

The foundation will be laid this fall and the building completed next year, according to present plans.

WORLD COURT IS URGED

Scouts Return From Isabel; Awards in Sports

The Scouts returned from Camp Isabel last night. Messrs. Moule, Hoffman, Dr. Engle, Hanson, Tierney and MacLeod brought the boys home. The boys pronounce Lake Isabel as the best camping grounds in this part of the country.

Monday evening the Scouts were the guests of Rev. Mr. Boulch of the Methodist church. Mr. Boulch invited a number of Dawson boys and girls and a jolly time was had in games and singing.

Fred Hanson and Vernon King joined the camp and remained to its close. Mr. Hanson proved to be a real good scout and camper.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Cross of Dawson and their nieces Misses Helen Coulter of Dawson and Gay Taylor of Tappen were camp guests for supper. It was John Anderson's Patrol who were in charge of the cooking and the boys were justly proud of the manner in which the Andersons performed their duty. Bert Dunn was head waiter and proved himself a Past Master. After supper two all star base ball teams performed for the visitors. The visitors fairly electrified the players who pulled down almost impossible plays. The visiting beauties made a great hit. It is rumored that all the older boys plan to return with the next camp.

The camp base ball league was won by Art Bender's Eagles who were: Art Bender, captain, catcher, Hy Lobach, pitcher, 1st base Jack Dingle, 2nd base Rae Taylor, 3rd base Hy Danrot, short stop Anderson, 1st f. Wendal Sanders, center f. Joyce Moule, r. f. Oliver Copenhagen.

The equities were conducted under the difficulties of an off shore breeze and chopping water. In the Tandem Canoe race, Marion Folsom and Hy Danrot were first, Herb O'Hare and Ted Anderson, second John Anderson and Bert Dunn, third In the Canoe Singles, Bert Dunn was first in the fastest heat with Jno. Anderson second and Art Bender third, the other heats were won by Vernon King and Jack Dunham.

In the tilting event Vernon King and Gerald Vettel won their way through hard battles with Jno Anderson and Bert Dunn and with Art Bender and Zeph Hollenbeck.

The following were elected to the Hall of Fame at the Tuesday night Camp Fire Council. Best worker, Art Bender; Best Ball player, Harry Lobach; Biggest eater, John Anderson; Camp Sleeper, Geo. Dobson; Best Swimmer, Wendal Sanders; Best cook, John Anderson; Lazy Guy, Jack Dunham; Pretty boy, Art Cayou; Fat boy, John Anderson; Skinny Guy, Mr. Fred Hanson; Biggest Feet, Jack Dunham; Camp Slacker, Art Cayou; Camp Grouch, Herb O'Hare.

The council are unanimously in favor of a two weeks camp next year at the same place. The Scouts are grateful to the men who drove them to and from camp, loaned boats and helped in making the outing worth while. Any boy 12 years of age or ones wishing to go to the next camp should phone Mr. MacLeod tonight or tomorrow at 460M.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE

Dramatic, impressive and thrilling. George Melford's latest Paramount picture, "Java Head" will be the attraction at the Eltinge theatre Friday and Saturday. Salem Mass, is the locale of the story, although several of the scenes are laid in China. The story, in brief, tells of the love of a young sea captain, Gerrit Amidon (Albert Roscoe) for a young Chinese maiden, Taou Yuen, played by Leatrice Joy. Gerrit returns from Shanghai with his Chinese wife to find Nettie Vollar (Jacqueline Logan) ready to marry him. Nettie suffers an injury, and Gerrit leaves Taou to go to her. Edward Dunack (Raymond Hatton), a rival of Gerrit's and an opium smoker, tells Taou Yuen that her husband and Nettie Vollar are in store. The young wife orders him from the house and goes to Nettie's home herself, where a dramatic close for the story is reached. Pathe News and an Acrop Fable comedy are on the program.

CAPITOL

A diverting comedy of modern marriage is the Goldwyn photoplay, adapted from a magazine story by Peter B. Kyne, "Brothers Under the Skin," which will be the attraction for two days, beginning on Monday, at the Capitol theatre. Its thesis, that all men are brothers, when it becomes a question of marriage and a man's relations with his wife, no matter what their economic or social station in life, is one that permitted Mr. Kyne to weave a story about two New York households, one in a poverty-stricken flat, the other in a gilded Riverside Drive apartment house, that lent itself to veracious comedy treatment.

Mr. Kyne was aided by Director E. Mason Hopper in making this transcript of marital struggles a real, and an amusing human document. The vein of comedy, tapped early in the first reel, yields excellent tonnage of laughter until the final foot of the last reel. But there is a substratum of powerful drama in "Brothers Under the Skin" which makes of it more than merely fine screen entertainment. There is an amount of truthful observation of human character in the marriage relationship that makes it something of a social study to the analytically minded spectator. Mr. Kyne is artist enough, however, to make a forward-marching story

The cast is a perfect one—the five principal characters being acted by Helene Chadwick and Pat O'Malley (as the poor married couple); by Claire Windsor and Norman Kerry (as the wealthy pair); and by Mae Busch as the inevitable divorcee to be found in every apartment house in New York. Their team work is truly remarkable in picture-making and brings out fully the truth and comedy of Mr. Kyne's story.

More Cars Shake Themselves to Pieces Than Ever Wear Out

Charge that up to vibration.

Vibration causes cars to grow old prematurely by racking their chassis, destroying the "metal life" of vital parts, loosening up their bodies and causing squeaks and rattles. Frequent, costly repairs are the result.

The Studebaker Light-Six is freer from vibration than any car of its approximate size or weight yet produced.

This has been accomplished largely by a complete machining of the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces—a practice used by Studebaker exclusively on cars at this price—and found only on a very few other cars whose selling prices are from three to ten times as high as the Light-Six.

There are 61 precision operations in the manufacture of the crankshaft alone, 40 of which range in accuracy from one-quarter thousandth to one thousandth of an inch.

The Light-Six motor embodies the most advanced design known to automobile construction. And no chassis at any price is built to more exacting standards of materials and workmanship.

Aside from its mechanical excellence and its consequent long life, the Light-Six is handsome in design, extremely comfortable, sturdy, and we believe the most economical car to buy and operate ever offered at $975 or anywhere near this figure.

Its substantial all-steel body, one-piece, rain-proof windshield, ten-inch cushions upholstered in genuine leather, cowl lamps—these are among many features heretofore to be had only in higher-priced cars.

For 71 years the name Studebaker has stood for integrity, quality and value.
